Northeastern Kansas Beekeepers Association

Beginning Beekeeping Class 2019 Registration Form

2 Parts on Sundays, March 3rd & 10th 2019 1-5:30 p.m. Starting promptly at 1 p.m.

On the 3rd Sunday, March 10th we are honored to have Dr. Juliana Rangel, Associate Professor of Apiculture in the Department of Entomology at Texas A&M. Her university program revolves around conducting innovative and applicable research projects on the biology and health of the honey bee, Apis mellifera.

New members will be eligible to win a starter single story hive and a 3-pound package of bees with a queen. All other registrants will be eligible to win door prizes. You must be present to win. Each family registration will also receive 1 set of the textbooks "The Beekeeper's Handbook (4th edition-2011) by Diana Sammataro and Alphonse Avitabile as well as the "Field Guide to Honey Bees and their Maladies" by Penn State University & MAAREC. If you already have these books there will be an alternate choice available.

*A different textbook will be offered at the door, if you already possess "The Beekeeper's Handbook".
