Dani Jurnak is the founder and president of LPS Services, a multi-million dollar agency obsessed with providing top-notch professional security services around the east coast and midwest. LPS Services is a 100 percent women-owned agency that quickly gained a reputation for providing the highest standard of safety and security services to several industries, including the male-dominated oil and gas field. The agency equips businesses, professional athletes and schools with certified, licensed, insured and bonded professional security officers. LPS Services is certified as a Women's Business Enterprise National Council (WBENC) and Disadvantaged Business Enterprise (DBE) agency. The Pittsburgh Pirates, EQT Corporation and the Penn Hills School District are just a few of the clients that have trusted and referred LPS Services.

In 2013, Jurnak started LPS Services with a small team of five people dedicated to providing the best personnel to protect people and property. Today, her agency continues that mission with more than 300 employees across five states. From supplying guards at college campuses to extensive evacuation planning, LPS Services works to create customized security solutions focused on the customer's needs. As a licensed private detective armed with decades of investigative and business expertise, Jurnak also takes great pride in providing a high standard of officer selection. She holds more than 20 years of experience in the security industry, including security officer and corporate supervisor.
