It is not easy to live life sometimes, and face the world with a smile when you're feeling discouraged. It takes a lot of courage to reach down inside yourself and find the strength and believe that tomorrow is a new day with new possibilities. But there is! Each and every new day offers you these wonderful beginnings. Hold on to these thoughts and you'll come out stronger, with renewed hope and with a new pride in yourself from knowing that you made it!

Hospice is going strong. Last month we were talking to different ones that came in like we usually do. One lady began to ask questions that so many ask, did you all cook this yourself, where are you from, how often do you do this etc. But, she just kept talking about it and asking questions. She was not from here and had never heard of this being done and expressed how much they appreciated it. She said "talking with you and seeing what you are doing has inspired me to the awareness of a need like this." She also said she was going to check into it when she got back home. It was such a blessing for us and I do pray that she will check into the need in her hometown.

Recently we had a "Silent Prayer Walk Service." Thank you to everyone that had a part in planning and setting up the prayer stations. We had ten stations for everyone to visit. We had one for our Church and Pastor, Community Service of Fire - Law - EMS, Graduates, Human Trafficking, Missionaries, Our Nation and Government, Domestic Violence, Abuse and Neglect of Children, Caregivers. During the time of total silence and praying it was so meaningful and fulfilling. You could feel the Presence of the Lord at each station.

We want to collect school supplies from now until August 31st. This is for the Christmas in August we do every year to help children that parents cannot afford to buy them the supplies they need for school. We collect from the grades K through 6. Last year we took everything to Ogden Elementary School. We need pencils, paper, rulers, crayons, pens, binders, folders, scissors, glue, pencil boxes, erasers, small pencil sharpener, and construction paper. There is a box in the back with WMU on it, please put it there.

When you start a new beginning you must leave your past behind, opening a new door and closing the old. There is no leaving it just a little open or unlocked for a just in case or perhaps to let your past see a little of your new beginning. Be careful. You may trip for looking back to see who's peeking and before you realize it the new beginning has locked the door.
