Major: Nursing and Psychology

I'm very excited for this upcoming 2019/2020 year as it will be my final year at VCU. I am still on track to graduate with a Bachelor's both in Nursing and Psychology, as well as with the Honors College. This past year, I have started working at Henrico Doctors Hospital in their oncology unit as a Patient Care Technician. Part of my job involves taking vitals, blood sugars, and assisting patients who are on our unit due to cancer complications. Through this job, I have found my passion in oncology. I plan, once having graduated, to work with cancer patients as it has been an inspirational and eye opening experience. This upcoming May, I will be partaking in a service learning trip with VCU's Institute of Women's Health. We will be going to Guatemala to shadow midwives in rural villages, as well as learning the Guatemalan way of bone setting, herbal medicine, and spiritual healing. I would not have been able to have all of these life changing experiences without the help of the Anchor Scholarship Foundation. With your help, I have been able to remain debt free, be a double major, and succeed in my college career. Words will never be able to properly express how much gratitude I have for this foundation!
