

Oswego hosts drive-thru 'Moove the Milk' giveaway

Oswego area-residents took home 130 gallons of free milk and other dairy products Sunday at Jaycee Park.

Aurora Interfaith Food Pantry opened a "Moove the Milk" promotion with a "Free Milk Pantry" to giveaway 3,000 gallons of milk scheduled to be received weekly during June from Gourmet Gorilla in Chicago.

Starting at 11 a.m., Oswego residents Becky Dunnigan and daughter Sarah Dunnigan loaded visitors' vehicles with boxes of milk and dairy products. Becky Dunnigan, Interfaith Food Pantry, outreach coordinator, said the milk ran out about 12:30 p.m. She said dairy products distributed were 10 boxes of four-gallon jugs and 45 boxes each containing a gallon of two-percent milk, a gallon of one-percent milk, a pound of butter and two pounds of bagged cheddar-cheese shreds.

More free milk pantries will be announced Dunnigan said.

She invites churches, neighborhood groups and others to hold Free Milk Pantries. "We can drive the milk to where you need it or you can pick up whatever you need," Dunnigan said.

She added a local church has booked a Free Milk Pantry to follow a worship service Sunday, June 21.

For more information, contact Dunnigan at (630) 692-3061 or email rdunnigan@aurorafoodpantry.org.

PHOTO (bottom): Sarah Dunnigan of Oswego loads up a patron's car Sunday with milk and other dairy products from Aurora Interfaith Food Pantry during a free drive-thru milk pantry at Jaycee Park in Oswego. Becky Dunnigan, Interfaith Food Pantry outreach coordinator and Sarah's mom, handed out 130 gallons of milk plus yogurt, butter and cheddar-cheese shreds. The giveaway opened a "Moove the Milk" promotion to feed area residents. (Al Benson photo)

PHOTO (top): Sarah Dunnigan, left, and Becky Dunnigan, Oswego residents and daughter-mother duo, unload milk and other dairy products Sunday from an Aurora Interfaith Food Pantry van for a free drive-thru milk pantry at Jaycee Park in Oswego. Becky Dunnigan, Interfaith Food Pantry outreach coordinator, and her daughter handed out 130 gallons of milk plus yogurt, butter and cheddar-cheese shreds. The giveaway opened a "Moove the Milk" promotion to feed area residents. (Al Benson photo)