"Christians must be to the world what the soul is to the body." Dangers and Warnings in Gaudete et Exsultate

Our journey with Pope Francis comes with a warning against two false forms of holiness that can lead us astray. Heresy can take a grain of truth and build lies around it and then justify the lie by aligning it with the original kernel of truth.

Gnosticism: An intellect without God and without flesh

37. Thanks be to God, throughout the history of the Church it has always been clear that a person's perfection is measured not by the information or knowledge they possess, but by the depth of their charity. "Gnostics" do not understand this, because they judge others based on their ability to understand the complexity of certain doctrines. They think of the intellect as separate from the flesh, and thus become incapable of touching Christ's suffering flesh in others, locked up as they are in an encyclopaedia of abstractions. In the end, by disembodiment the mystery, they prefer "a God without Christ, a Christ without the Church, a Church without her people".^[36]

Gnosticism is dangerous because it leads us to believe the mystery of God can be known and understood through the intellect and those who had the special knowledge need to be followed.

Pope Francis continues "41. When somebody has an answer for every question, it is a sign that they are not on the right road. They may well be false prophets, who use religion for their own purposes, to promote their own psychological or intellectual theories. God infinitely transcends us; he is full of surprises. We are not the ones to determine when and how we will encounter him; the exact times and places of that encounter are not up to us. Someone who wants everything to be clear and sure presumes to control God's transcendence."

Pelagianism: 48. The same power that the gnostics attributed to the intellect, others now began to attribute to the human will, to personal effort. This was the case with the pelagians and semi-pelagians. Now it was not intelligence that took the place of mystery and grace, but our human will. It was forgotten that everything "depends not on human will or exertion, but on God who shows mercy" (Rom 9:16) and that "he first loved us" (cf. 1 Jn 4:19).

Pelagianism is dangerous as it invites us to believe that our best efforts are all that matter. We don't need the grace of God and certainly not the Church and its sacraments. People believe they can just be good people and God will find that to be enough.

Pope Francis continues "50. Ultimately, the lack of a heartfelt and prayerful acknowledgment of our limitations prevents grace from working more effectively within us, for no room is left for bringing about the potential good that is part of a sincere and genuine journey of growth.^[51] Grace, precisely because it builds on nature, does not make us superhuman all at once. That kind of thinking would show too much confidence in our own abilities. Underneath our orthodoxy, our attitudes might not correspond to our talk about the need for grace, and in specific situations we can end up putting little trust in it. Unless we can acknowledge our concrete and limited situation, we will not be able to see the real and possible steps that the Lord demands of us at every moment, once we are attracted and empowered by his gift. Grace acts in history; ordinarily it takes hold of us and transforms us progressively.^[52] If we reject this historical and progressive reality, we can actually refuse and block grace, even as we extol it by our words."

The Church has battled these heresies and many more over the centuries. Pelagius was a contemporary of St. Augustine. Let us always look to the Church for its guidance and leadership, in all humility and charity as we grow in the love of God.

Celebrating the Year of St. Joseph

Pope Francis has declared this the year of Saint Joseph. One of the many things Saint Joseph is known for is providing for the Holy Family. With this in mind, the Adult Faith Commission is seeking to partner with organizations who are working to feed those less fortunate in our community. We recently met with Alicia Clarkson from the Peter McKee Community Garden and she gave a wonderful presentation on the work they are currently doing and their plans for the future.

When asked what their most pressing needs are she responded with “seeds and funding”. Some of the seeds they would be looking for are Carrots (Tenderly Imperator, Scarlet Nantes), Lettuce (Buttercrunch, Little Gem, Romaine) and Tomato (Prudens Purple, San Marzano). Also, gift cards to hardware stores or garden centers are always useful.

As far as funding. They currently have 101 Garden Boxes on the go; of the 101, only 16 are currently being sponsored. You can sponsor a box for $200 for the year. This will provide seeds, soil and maintenance, updates, a charitable tax receipt, and the good grown in your name will go to the food bank, or a family in need. Also, for the $200 there will be a sign put up with the information of the sponsor.

If you would like more information about this, please check out their Facebook page or email Alicia at alicia.clarkson@fooddepot.ca

AFC Committee members: Mike Jefferies, Susan McCarthy, Debbie Theriault, Mark Mahoney, Fr. Phil Mulligan.

Mass will be held for the 40th Anniversary of Our Lady's apparitions in Medjugorje at St. Augustine's Friday, June 25th.

Rosary at 6:30pm, Mass at 7:00pm.

Father Robert Savoie will be presiding.

To register please call the parish office at 857-4223.

Exploring our Faith

Christ Asleep Within My Boat

A verse from a song that I learned in Religious Education many years ago has been echoing in my head ever since I read this week's scripture passages.

I saw Christ in wind and thunder.

Joy is tried by storm.

*Christ asleep within my boat,
whipped by wind yet still afloat.*

Joy is tried by storm.

Whether we are talking about the personal storms that I see each day in the hospital, the current global storms such as the pandemic and climate change, or the multi-generational storms of racism and cultural genocide, the storms of life seem to be unending. There are days when I say, "where is God?" or "How can God allow these things to happen?!" Yet even as I ask these questions (or on a particularly difficult day, even as I shout these questions into the solitude of my car on my drive home), I know that the answer to the first is: God is with us, right in the middle of the most difficult things. And the answer to the second is: it's complicated.

God is with us. I remember reading today's gospel story as a child and marveling at the foolishness of the disciples who were so upset about the storm when they could see that Jesus was right there. Of course, they weren't going to drown! If Jesus was in the boat with you, the storm was more like an amusement park ride than a real storm. It would have been okay to be scared if they were kids, but adults should know better! As an adult, I have a lot more sympathy for the disciples and yet my child self was correct: if I know that Jesus is with me, what is there to worry about?

Each Sunday when we celebrate the Eucharist, we are proclaiming that Jesus is with us in the worst storms of our life. The Eucharist is the reminder that the paschal mystery is not simply an historical event that was completed nearly two thousand years ago. The suffering, death and resurrection of Jesus exist both within and outside of time. Yes, they are part of our historical past; but they are also part of the eternal now. Whenever we are suffering, we are side by side with Jesus on the cross. The suffering is real, but we are not alone; and because we are not alone, suffering will never be the end of the story.

Of course, even if suffering is not the end of the story, I am still left with the question of why suffering is necessary. The answer to that question is found in God's words to Job: "Where were you when I laid the foundation of the earth? Tell me if you have understanding.

Who shut in the sea with doors when it burst out from the womb? – when I made the clouds its garment, and prescribed bounds for it ..." The universe – time and space – is incredibly complicated, and God keeps it all in balance. When I say, "how can God allow this?" I am presuming that I am capable of understanding how everything is held in balance; and I am presuming that God has forgotten! The problem is not with asking why God allows suffering – asking questions is part of growing in faith. The problem is in my unspoken assumption that I know a better way. Today's readings are a reminder that faith means trusting God even when we do not understand.
