

Jenna Rodriguez
11/12/18

Holiday Essay

I am thankful for a lot of things during the holidays, but I have decided to only talk about three of them. The things that I am most thankful are; my family and friends, being able to eat and having a roof over my head, and being able to enjoy my life. I chose those things because they are the most important things in my life. I have everything I need; people there for me, food and a home to live in, and being able to live my life. People take advantage of the holidays because they think the most important things are the gifts and that's not what the holidays are about, they are about spending time with your family and not caring what you get, just be thankful of what you have.

My family and friends are probably the most important things in my life because they are always there for me. I don't think I'd be able to get through the school day without my friends because they always have my back. I don't think I'd be able to get through a day without my family because they are there for me no matter what I did wrong. I love my family and friends with all my heart because without them, I don't think I would be as successful as I am now.

I am so thankful for being able to eat food and have a roof over my head because I don't think that people understand how lucky they are to have a nice house and meals every night, some people in this world don't have that and live on the streets even when it's snowing. They have to depend on other people because that's how they get money. I really do want to volunteer at a homeless shelter because I want to help people by offering. It would make there day just to be able to get one meal.

I want to be able to enjoy my life by spending time with my family and my friends, being able to volunteer for people I don't even know, but I know that it would make them so happy. I want to be able to spend time with my pets that mean the world to me. I want to be able to do good in school and do the best I possibly can. I want to be able to make friends. I want to be able to make other people smile and have a chance at life. I have those chances of doing something because I want to enjoy my life and I want other people to enjoy their lives as well.