

Can I cancel at any time?

Our experience has shown that the business sale life-cycle, from beginning to close, is approximately six months and therefore our agreements cover a twelve month period with an option for you to cancel at any time "with, or without cause" after the initial 90-day marketing term (beginning at such time the "Teaser Flyer" has been made available for general public access.) There are no penalties for canceling.

The sale of your business is an outcome, not a goal. It's a function of doing many things right, starting from the moment you decide to sell until you finalize the deal. We look to partner with successful enterprises committed to the sale process. Achieving your maximum multiple requires a significant commitment to time and effort from all parties ---owners who are fully invested in the success of the effort.
