Grievance Policy

As a client of Molly Kasper, LMFT, we want to ensure that you are satisfied with the mental health services that you are receiving. If you are not satisfied, you have the right to file a grievance. A g*rievance* is an expression of dissatisfaction about the services that you are receiving. If you decide to file a grievance, you can do so without fear of punitive action by your mental health counselor.
Examples of types of grievances include the following areas:

a. Access-to-Care: This category addresses the provider's capacity to arrange a timely first visit.
b. Clinical Care: This category relates to any aspect about the assigned consultant and the quality of services that are provided by the therapist (e.g. their manner, competency, the treatment, etc.).
c. Service Provision (timeliness and quality): This category relates to a member who is already in the system and has issues with the timeliness of services offered or dissatisfaction with the number or frequency of services (e.g. the front desk staff was rude, lost the appointment, didn't pass on a message etc.).
d. Claims: category applies to issues related to claims or the payment of claims.

If you decide to file a grievance you must do the following:

a. You must file a grievance within one year after the date of the occurrence that initiated the grievance.
b. You may file the grievance either orally or in writing however an oral request must be followed with a written request but the time frame for resolution begins the date of the oral filing. You will receive written notification acknowledging receipt of the grievance.
c. If your grievance is with your clinician, talk to the clinician first.
d. If you are still not satisfied, contact your insurance provider.
e. If you are still not satisfied you may go to www.flhealthsource.com to file an official complaint.
f. Each grievance is to be resolved and written notice provided within 90 days.

My signature acknowledges that grievance policy has been reviewed with me.

Limits of Confidentiality

Contents of all therapy sessions are considered to be confidential. Both verbal information and written records about a client cannot be shared with another party without the written consent of the client or the client's legal guardian. Noted exceptions are as follows:

Duty to Warn and Protect
When a client discloses intentions or a plan to harm another person, the mental health professional is required to warn the intended victim and report this information to legal authorities. In cases in which the client discloses or implies a plan for suicide, the health care professional is required to notify legal authorities and make reasonable attempts to notify the family of the client.

Abuse of Children and Vulnerable Adults
If a client states or suggests that he or she is abusing a child (or vulnerable adult) or has recently abused a child (or vulnerable adult), or a child (or vulnerable adult) is in danger of abuse, the mental health professional is required to report this information to the appropriate social service and/or legal authorities.

Prenatal Exposure to Controlled Substances
Mental Health care professionals are required to report admitted prenatal exposure to controlled substances that are potentially harmful.

Minors/Guardianship
Parents or legal guardians of non-emancipated minor clients have the right to access the clients' records.

Insurance Providers (when applicable)
Insurance companies and other third-party payers are given information that they request regarding services to clients.

Information that may be requested includes type of services, dates/times of services, diagnosis, treatment plan, and description of impairment, progress of therapy, case notes, and summaries.

I agree to the above limits of confidentiality and understand their meanings and ramifications.

Financial Policy

We make every effort to keep our costs down. All co-pays, co-insurance, deductibles and payments for non-covered services are to be paid at the time the services are rendered.

For patients with insurance policies for which our office does not participate, or patients who are self-pay, we require payment upon receipt of service.

Due to an increased number of patients cancellations/no shows for scheduled appointments, we have been forced to institute a cancellation policy. When appointments are cancelled without adequate notice, we are unable to schedule another patient in that appointment time slot. Any cancellations without one business day notice will risk a charge of $35.00. You will receive a phone call, text, or email regarding your missed/cancelled session and your card will be charged immediately. Exceptions will be made for emergencies and will be taken into consideration session by session. Thank you for your understanding and attention to this policy.

Information Sheet for the office of Molly Kasper, LMFT

PLEASE TAKE THIS FORM HOME WITH YOU

Cancellation Policy

If you are unable to make your appointment, a 24-hour notice is required. If not cancelled in the required amount of time, there is a $35 cancellation fee. If you miss your appointment and do not call ahead to cancel at all, there is a $60 no show fee.

If you miss more than 3 sessions (either no-shows or last minute cancellations), therapy will be terminated and you will be referred to a different therapy agency.

Scheduling

Due to the high volume of clients, if there is a specific day/time that you prefer, I suggest making several appointments at a time in order to guarantee an appointment.
