Gail Pearles brings 25 years experience to her training methods. Her approach and techniques are built from the masters of Natural Horsemanship, including Buck Brannaman and Ray Hunt. Do you truly understand direct and indirect feel? Whatever your discipline, Gail can help you get the improvement you desire. Be prepared with two issues you would like addressed, either riding or groundwork. Be ready to look at horsemanship in a different light. “The rider’s hands are not there to control the horse, but to feel the horse’s thoughts” – Jean Luc Cornille

Debra Borer believes that repetitive abnormal stress causes injury and correcting the root cause is the most efficient therapy. Let Deb’s 21 years of human massage experience show where your muscle stress is and how correcting the root cause will improve your ride, adding to your understanding of lightness and balance.

Science of Motion – In addition to their experience, Gail & Deb are students of Jean Luc Cornille’s year-long In-Hand Therapy Course. “Gaits and performance cannot be created through greater amplitude but through greater coordination of numerous and miniscule muscles, along with subtle movements of the rider’s back” – Jean Luc Cornille.
