

Any rider that has a lap time 7.5% faster than the average lap time of the other riders will be subject to move up if they show the break out in time of two or more races. The times used to create the average lap time will be gathered from a lap where majority of riders were able to finish that lap.