Wisconsin Law Enforcement Accreditation Group

Foreword

Accreditation is a progressive and time-proven way of helping institutions evaluate and improve their overall performance. The key to any successful accreditation system lies in the consensus of published standards containing a clear statement of professional objectives.

The practice of accrediting institutions began in this country more than 200 years ago when New York State established a State Board of Regents to charter colleges and private academies. The concept has since been successfully applied in fields as diverse as corrections and health care services.

The move to accredit law enforcement agencies began in 1979 when the Commission on Accreditation of Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc. (CALEA®) was established by the following four major law enforcement membership organizations.

- International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP)
- National Organization of Black Law Enforcement Executives (NOBLE)
- National Sheriffs Association (NSA), and the
- Police Executive Research Forum (PERF).

CALEA® established the first body of professional standards by which a law enforcement agency could be evaluated. They also developed an administrative process by which an agency could demonstrate its compliance with their standards and achieve law enforcement accreditation. CALEA® accredited its first agency in 1984.

In the years that followed, many agencies successfully completed the accreditation process. Unfortunately, many others with a desire to achieve and demonstrate professional excellence were stymied by the cost and administrative burden associated with pursuing accreditation at a national level. This, coupled with an interest in programs that were tailored to meet the specific needs of law enforcement agencies operating within various regions of the country, led many states to develop their own systems. In 1995, Wisconsin joined the ranks of states developing accreditation programs designed to embrace best practices emerging throughout the country, while addressing circumstances unique to policing in our state.

On June 02, 1995, the Accreditation Committee of the Wisconsin Chiefs' of Police Association approved the initial draft of Standards, First Edition, at a meeting in Fond du Lac. This approval was followed by a similar endorsement by the Wisconsin Police Leadership Foundation on August 14, 1995. Finally, the standards were again reviewed, revised and ultimately adopted by the Governing Board of the Wisconsin Law Enforcement Accreditation Group as WILEAG Standards, First Edition, on December 3, 1996. Two years later, WILEAG would accredit its first agencies.

In 2000, the WILEAG Governing Board undertook its first review of the original standards. The goal of this process was to ensure the standards remained consistent with evolving law enforcement professional doctrine on a national level. The result of this review was the adoption of the WILEAG Standards, Second Edition on March 14, 2001.

Over the next several years, the Governing Board began to recognize the increasing value of tailoring the WILEAG accreditation program to the policing environment within the state. That recognition led to another review process, initiated in 2007, which focused extensively on the unique nature of policing in Wisconsin. During this review, an effort was made to incorporate the various statutory mandates and administrative rules that significantly impact policing in the state. An additional goal of that process was to simplify and clarify standard language and format. That process resulted in the WILEAG Standards, Third Edition, which became effective October 1, 2008.

While the introduction of the Third Edition was a significant accomplishment, the Governing Board did not stop there. At that time, they also made a commitment that the accreditation process would continue to evolve; thereby ensuring the program would always remain focused on achieving professional law enforcement excellence in the State of Wisconsin. That commitment involves an ongoing review of national trends in the field, new legislation that impacts policing, and new administrative rules that require our attention. The process resulted in the adoption of the WILEAG Standards, Fourth Edition in 2013, and the WILEAG Standards, Fifth Edition in 2016.

As part of the Governing Board's ongoing commitment to provide the most current best practices, the latest review of the standards has led to the introduction of the WILEAG Standards, Sixth Edition. It is our hope that this latest offering of the standards manual will ensure that accredited agencies in the State of Wisconsin are embracing the best policing practices emerging throughout the country, while also addressing those issues unique to policing in Wisconsin.

WILEAG remains committed to providing a meaningful and affordable accreditation process to the law enforcement agencies of Wisconsin. Toward that end, we look forward to addressing the professional needs of Wisconsin police and sheriffs' departments for many years to come.

6th Edition – Guiding Principles

Wisconsin Law Enforcement Accreditation Group

Section 1 – Required Compliance

- 1.1 An agency must demonstrate compliance with all applicable standards.

Context

All standards are presumed to be applicable unless the agency demonstrates otherwise.

- 1.2 An agency declaring a standard to be not applicable can be held accountable for the functions or responsibilities governed by the standard if the Governing Board deems that an agency of its size and/or type should be expected to carry out such a responsibility or function.

Context

Questions regarding the applicability of any standard should be brought to the attention of the Governing Board as soon as possible, and always prior to an on-site assessment.

- 1.3 An agency that delegates mandatory functions or responsibilities to other agencies is, nevertheless, accountable for compliance with the standards governing those functions or responsibilities.

Context

The practices, policies or procedures necessary to demonstrate compliance may be those of the agency actually fulfilling the responsibility or function. For example, an agency may delegate its communication requirements to a county-wide or multi-jurisdictional dispatch center, and that agency or entity may provide immediate playback capability for all radio communications. While the applicant agency remains responsible for the requirement, the requirement is satisfied by the immediate playback capability provided by the agency actually performing the function.

- 1.4 An agency for which functions or responsibilities are performed on its behalf by another agency or entity is, nevertheless, accountable for verifying compliance with all standards governing those functions or responsibilities.

Context

The practices, policies or procedures necessary to demonstrate compliance may be those of the agency actually fulfilling the responsibility or function. For example, an agency may rely upon the human resources department of its political subdivision for conducting hiring or promotional processes; however, the applicant agency must verify that such processes are conducted in accordance with relevant standards, such as adhering to Equal Employment Opportunity guidelines.

- 1.5 Standards incorporating a Wisconsin statute require compliance with both the language of the standard, as well as the associated statute.

Context

There is a presumption that a state statute referenced in the body of a standard will be fully complied with by the applicant agency.

Section 2 – Standards

- 2.1 An agency may exceed the requirements of a standard.

Context

The requirements of a standard represent the minimally acceptable agency response. The agency is permitted to establish performance expectations that exceed the minimum requirement. For example, standard 2.5.3 requires written performance evaluations on all sworn probationary employees on a quarterly basis. The agency is permitted to establish a more stringent requirement, such as an evaluation of probationary officers on a monthly basis.

- 2.2 If an agency does not have responsibility for the requirements established by a standard, the standard might be not applicable to the agency. The final determination rests with the Governing Board.

Context

The intent of an applicant agency to declare an otherwise required standard not applicable should be brought to the attention of the Governing Board prior to the completion of an onsite assessment.

- 2.3 Standards related to personnel matters apply to all agency employees unless the standard specifies a particular class or category of employee.

Context

Certain standards pertain only to a specific category of employee; e.g., sworn, civilian, part-time, full-time, etc. Where no differentiation is made, the agency should consider the standard as applying to all employees.

- 2.4 Standards including the following language, “If the agency . . .,” or language of a similar nature, are only applicable if the agency performs the function governed by the standard.

Context

An example of this is found in standard 1.2.5, which states, “If the agency has a locker room, a written directive addresses privacy in the locker room, as required by §175.22, Wis. Stats.” In this example, the standard is not applicable if the applicant agency does not have a locker room. In this, and other examples, however, Guiding Principle 1.3 or 1.4 could apply, if the agency utilizes services provided by another agency.

Section 3 – Written Directives

- 3.1 A written directive is defined as a policy, plan, procedure, rule, general or special order, or other document that is binding upon agency personnel.

Context

The intent of a written directive is to establish agency policy that will serve to ensure consistent performance or conduct of agency employees. In evaluating whether a document meets the definition of written directive, consideration should be given to whether the document satisfies the requirements established in standard 1.4.4.

- 3.2 A written directive may, but need not be, developed for each individual standard. Rather, a written directive may be used to demonstrate compliance with multiple standards.

Context

The format of the written directive system or manual is left to the agency. As such, some agencies may elect a format that corresponds to the numbering system utilized in the standards manual, while other agencies may prefer a format that utilizes directive topics or titles that encompass several standards.

- 3.3 A written directive serves as the foundation for, and presumes functional compliance with, the standard. This notwithstanding, while a written directive presumes functional compliance with the standard, compliance will not be established if a determination is made that the directive is not adhered to.

Context

Establishing functional compliance with the written directive requirement will involve more than merely verifying the existence of a directive. It will also involve verifying that the content of the directive satisfies the various conditions identified in the standard and that the directive is being followed within the agency.

- 3.4 A written directive, newly created or revised for the purpose of demonstrating compliance with a standard, is generally associated with an agency’s first accreditation process or a new or substantially revised standard(s). Agencies seeking reaccreditation are expected to have a well-established system of written directives, with those directives deemed necessary to demonstrate compliance in place for the entire accreditation period.

Context

These newly created or revised written directives, often referred to as “wet ink” directives, will reflect recent implementation or revision dates. Directives that have been in place for a lengthy period of time are not considered “wet ink” simply because an agency is in its first accreditation process, and assessors may request proofs of compliance commensurate with the length of time the policy has been in effect, up to three years. It is also understood that assessors might request an agency make changes to a written directive to establish compliance. Such a change occurring during an onsite would also constitute “wet ink.” Significant “wet ink” changes during a reaccreditation onsite may be considered by the Governing Board during deliberations regarding the agency’s pending status.

Section 4 – Proofs of Compliance

- 4.1 An agency pursuing accreditation for the first time is expected to provide functional proofs of compliance for each year the agency has been in self-assessment, up to a maximum of three years, with the exception of newly created or revised written directives or procedures. In such cases, proofs will be required for each year that follows the implementation date of the newly created or revised written directive or procedure.

Context

It is understood that the self-assessment process may be ongoing virtually until the onsite assessment is scheduled. Assessors will have the discretion to waive the one year requirement associated with newly created or revised written directives or procedures, but shall note the prevalence of such discoveries in the final report. The Governing Board will consider the magnitude of the deficiencies during deliberations regarding the pending status of the agency.

- 4.2 An agency pursuing reaccreditation is expected to provide proofs demonstrating compliance in each of the years for which the agency was accredited (the typical accreditation period is three years). The three year period begins with the date the most recent accreditation award was granted and concludes with the current onsite assessment.

Context

The exception to this requirement relates to new or substantially revised standard(s) that may have been introduced during the agency's current accreditation period.

- 4.3 Missing proofs or gaps in compliance will be noted by the lead assessor in the final report to the Governing Board. The Board will consider the magnitude of the deficiencies during deliberations regarding the pending status of the agency.

Context

Gaps in compliance or missing proofs are occasionally found during onsite assessments and can be caused by various factors such as a change in accreditation manager or CEO. The Governing Board will consider, among other factors, whether the deficiencies are a result of oversight or neglect of program requirements.

- 4.4 Written documentation is the preferred proof of compliance, when it is available.

Context

This principle should not be construed in such a way that a document is created merely to show compliance. If adherence to the standards results in the creation of a written document, such a document should be used to demonstrate compliance. If no such document exists, it is the agency's prerogative to create a document to demonstrate compliance, though compliance can also be ascertained through observation and interview.

Section 5 – Assessors

- 5.1 An agency having achieved accredited status shall make personnel available to serve as WILEAG assessors. This contribution of assessors serves as an in-kind contribution for the assessor time committed during their on-site. The number of assessor commitments during a three-year accreditation period shall generally be equivalent to the number of assessors required to conduct the agency's triennial on-site assessment.

Context

The exchange of assessors between accredited agencies has long been a method used to ensure the cost of participating in the program remains reasonable. An agency may be exempt from this requirement if it can establish the requirement represents a substantial hardship on the organization. Such determination shall be made by the Governing Board.

- 5.2 Assessors conducting an onsite assessment on behalf of the Wisconsin Law Enforcement Accreditation Group are representatives of WILEAG. As such, their behavior reflects upon this organization. Assessors shall present and conduct themselves in a professional manner.

Context

While assessors are selected based on their professional experience and subject matter expertise related to the WILEAG standards, it is important to remember that it is the Governing Board's interpretation of the standards, not the personal interpretation of the assessor or the manner in which an issue is handled in his or her agency, which must prevail during the onsite assessment. An assessor may provide suggestions to the agency based upon his or her own experience and that of the police agency he or she represents.

- 5.3 Assessors may examine factors beyond the proofs of compliance offered by the agency in an effort to ascertain compliance.

Context

Assessors will routinely make observations and discover information during the onsite assessment that will help formulate a decision regarding agency compliance. For example, an assessor may review a written directive mandating seatbelt use by officers, and then casually observe an officer wearing a seatbelt while riding with the officer. This information can be used in making a compliance determination. Furthermore, should an assessor have doubts regarding compliance for any given standard after reviewing all proofs of compliance provided by the agency, the assessor should take steps to reach a conclusion, which may involve seeking additional proof beyond that offered by the agency.

- 5.4 Assessors may seek proof of compliance outside the agency.

Context

Assessors may seek input from citizens, colleagues in other law enforcement agencies, members of the court, representatives of other departments within the political subdivision, other partner organizations, etc., in an effort to establish compliance.

- 5.5 Upon conclusion of the onsite assessment, assessors must have verified compliance with every applicable standard.

Context

In the event compliance cannot be verified or achieved during a scheduled onsite, the team leader should notify a representative of the Governing Board as soon as practicable after reaching such a determination. The Governing Board representative will determine whether the onsite will continue and the manner in which the deficiency will be addressed by the Governing Board.

- 5.6 In the event a dispute arises between the assessor team and representatives of the agency, the team leader will attempt to mediate the situation, however, the authority to interpret standards, or suspend or terminate an onsite assessment, rests solely with the Governing Board.

Section #4 – Command Authority

1.4.1 Chief Executive Officer Authority

The agency vests in the chief executive officer (CEO) full authority and responsibility for the management, direction, and control of the operations and administration of the agency.

Context

There should be documentation that clearly establishes that the CEO has been duly appointed and is legally responsible for the operation of the agency. Local government resolution, ordinance and/or law may set this forth.

1.4.2 Command Protocol

A written directive requires that at a minimum there are command protocols for the following situations:

- 1.4.2.1 Normal day-to-day agency operations.
- 1.4.2.2 Exceptional situations.
- 1.4.2.3 Situations involving personnel of different organizational components engaged in a single operation.
- 1.4.2.4 Absence of the chief executive officer.

Context

A system of succession should exist to ensure leadership continuity if and when the agency's chief executive officer is incapacitated, off duty, out of town, or otherwise unable to command. For anticipated absences for extended periods, the CEO should designate, in writing, an "acting" authority. Command protocols covering management and supervisory functions may be predetermined for certain emergency or unusual occurrences and for specific operational activities. Command protocols should be designed to clarify authority, alleviate confusion, and ensure leadership continuity.

- 1.9.1.1 Complaints that are to be investigated by line supervisors.
- 1.9.1.2 Complaints that are to be investigated by the internal affairs function.
- 1.9.1.3 Complaints that are to be reviewed by the internal affairs function.
- 1.9.1.4 Written procedures for filing a complaint are made available to the public and include a prohibition against filing a false complaint as outlined in §§66.0511(3) and 946.66, Wis. Stats.

Context

The written directive should delineate who has responsibility for an investigation or review of a complaint based on the seriousness of the allegations. For example, situations involving complaints about officer driving behavior, rudeness, officer enforcement decisions may be assigned to a line supervisor while situations involving complaints of criminal activity, civil rights violations, use of force, corruption or brutality would be handled by internal affairs.

Section #2 – Grievance Procedures

2.2.1 Grievance Procedure

Unless there is controlling contract language, a written directive governs grievance procedures. The directive should:

- 2.2.1.1 Enumerate issues that are permissible subjects of a grievance and what the filing and appeal protocols and timelines are within the agency or governmental subdivision.
- 2.2.1.2 Prescribe the minimum information needed for a grievance to be filed and considered.
- 2.2.1.3 Outline the actual procedural steps and time limitations at every level of the process and cover both grievant and receiving parties.
- 2.2.1.4 Set forth rules for employee representation.

Context

Clear, concise formal grievance procedures form the foundation of an effective system for resolving issues between employees and their employers. Given the size and complexity of the agency, it is possible that there be more than one grievance procedure covering different employee categories or types of issues subject to grievance.

Filing of a formal grievance is a serious matter that impacts agency resources. For that reason, the agency requires specific minimum information for a filing to be accepted into the process. Typically, the agency provides a form that outlines the required information, which can include, but is not limited to:

- A concise statement of the grievance itself.
- Facts on which it is based.
- Reference sources, where applicable.
- Outcome of attempts to correct the situation, if any.
- Remedy/correction being sought.

Once filed, the grievance should be handled according to the protocols and timelines. There should be a thorough review of the assertions made by the grievant and responses and input from relevant parties. Decisions, including denials, remedies or other corrections, should be set forth in writing. Responsible persons at each level in the process should make a bona fide attempt to resolve the matter.

An appeal, by definition, means the issue was not resolved at the entry or subsequent levels of the process and that the grievance goes to higher levels or another venue for further consideration, and ultimately a final disposition, according to agency procedures, protocols and timelines.

Context

Employee signatures on evaluations ensure that employees have read the evaluation of their performance and there was discussion with their supervisor regarding the contents of the evaluation. A notation should be made that a "refusal to sign" by an employee denotes the same meaning as a signature in that the employee has read the evaluation and discussed its contents.

Section #8 – Auxiliary Personnel

2.8.1 Auxiliary Personnel

If the agency utilizes auxiliary personnel, a written directive describes the auxiliary program, to include:

- 2.8.1.1 A statement establishing auxiliaries as non-sworn personnel.
- 2.8.1.2 An explanation of the duties and scope of authority of auxiliary personnel.
- 2.8.1.3 A requirement that uniforms, if worn, clearly distinguish auxiliary personnel from sworn officers.
- 2.8.1.4 A requirement that auxiliary personnel receive training related to their authorized and assigned duties.
- 2.8.1.5 Liability protection and indemnification for auxiliary personnel acting within the scope of their authority.

Context

Auxiliary personnel may be assigned to provide support services to any law enforcement functions not requiring sworn officer status. To the extent the agency chooses to use auxiliary personnel, they should receive initial and on-going training appropriate to the duties.

Auxiliary personnel are defined as non-sworn personnel, uniformed or non-uniformed, who support the operational policing mission of the organization, and may include, but not be limited to, community service officers, police aides or cadets, code enforcement officers, parking enforcement personnel, police Explorers, crossing guards, and police volunteers.

2.8.2 Reserve Police Officers

If the agency utilizes reserve police officers, a written directive describes the reserve police officer program, to include:

- 2.8.2.1 A description of the selection process for reserve police officers, which must satisfy all requirements for the hiring of police officers established by the Wisconsin Law Enforcement Standards Board. It is understood that the selection process for reserve police officers might vary from the selection process for full and part-time officers used by the agency.
- 2.8.2.2 An explanation of the duties and responsibilities, scope of authority, and supervision of reserve police officers.
- 2.8.2.3 A requirement that uniforms, if worn, clearly distinguish reserve police officers from full or part-time officers.
- 2.8.2.4 A requirement that reserve police officers receive training related to their authorized and assigned duties, as well as all training necessary to achieve and maintain their status as certified law enforcement officers.
- 2.8.2.5 Liability protection and indemnification for reserve police officers acting within the scope of their authority.

Context

Reserve police officers are defined as part-time, sworn personnel, uniformed or non-uniformed, who perform limited scope duties, such as court security, prisoner transport, cold-case investigations, etc. Unlike part-time officers, the primary role of reserve police officers shall not include detecting and preventing crime, responding to calls for service, enforcing laws or ordinances, or making arrests. The availability of reserve police officers does not permit their use to augment full or part-time sworn staff.

- 3.1.2.1 Provides a description of the duties, responsibilities, requisite skills, educational level, and other minimum qualifications or requirements.
- 3.1.2.2 Advertises entry-level job vacancies through electronic, print, or other media.
- 3.1.2.3 Identifies the agency as an equal opportunity employer on all employment applications and recruitment advertisements.
- 3.1.2.4 Clearly spells out official application filing deadlines.

Section #2 – Selection

3.2.1 Applicant Selection and Job Relatedness

A written directive establishes the criteria and processes for selection of personnel.

Context

The written directive should describe the selection process, to include any elements unique to particular positions. It should describe the sequence of events and address job relatedness, administration and scoring of various steps in the process. The directive should also address documentation, as it is critical to the effective administration, use, and defensibility of the selection criteria and process.

Outside resources such as state or local civil service commissions, employment agencies, or other public or private organizations may be used to administer or provide a part(s) of the selection process. Just as in the case where the agency runs the process, copies of all relevant outside resource processes, activities and results should be maintained by the hiring agency.

3.2.3 Background Investigations

A background investigation of each candidate for a sworn position is conducted prior to appointment to probationary status, and includes, at a minimum:

- 3.2.3.1 Criminal and driving history check.
- 3.2.3.2 Credentials (work, education, training, special skills) verification.
- 3.2.3.3 Personal reference checks (minimum three).

Context

A thorough background investigation is a key component of an effective selection process. It is best to conduct inquiries in person rather than by phone, mail or other means, whenever possible, due to the higher quality of information received from respondents (criminal, educational and driving histories excepted, in which case standardized documentation exists).

Whenever feasible, the investigation of candidates for sworn positions should include a visit with the candidate and his/her family at their home. Similarly, neighbors should be interviewed. Generally, background checks come toward the end of the overall process when the pool of eligible candidates has narrowed and more is known about the remaining candidates.

Chapter 5 – Management of Resistance/Aggression

Section #1 – Use of Force

5.1.1 Use of Force

The agency has a written directive governing the use of force, as required by §66.0511(2), Wis. Stats., that adheres to all applicable Federal, State, and local laws. The written directive shall include a requirement that when using force, an officer is required to act in good faith to achieve a legitimate law enforcement objective. Furthermore, the written directive must establish that an officer is only authorized to use force that is objectively reasonable based on the totality of circumstances, including:

1. The severity of the alleged crime at issue.
2. Whether the suspect poses an imminent threat to the safety of law enforcement officers or others.
3. Whether the suspect is actively resisting or attempting to evade arrest by flight.

The written directive must be publicly available on the agency's website.

Context

The policy should be based upon state law and current professional standards and accepted practices. In the event the agency does not have a website on which to post its policy, the use of force policy should be available on the website of the municipality over which they have jurisdiction.

Section #3 – Reporting and Review

5.3.1 Use of Force Reporting

The agency requires a written report whenever an employee uses force under the following circumstances:

- 5.3.1.1 When a firearm is discharged, either intentionally or accidentally, while engaging in subject control.
- 5.3.1.2 When an action results in, or is alleged to have resulted in, injury or death of another person.
- 5.3.1.3 When force is applied by use of a lethal or less lethal weapon.
- 5.3.1.4 When weaponless physical force is applied at a level defined by the agency.

Context

The purpose of this standard is to create a use-of-force reporting system within the agency to facilitate review and analysis of use of force incidents. The system should help identify trends, improve training, improve safety and maintain agency credibility.

Procedures should outline when, how and by whom the report will be submitted, including who will do the report if multiple employees are involved in the same incident. The primary employee involved should be required to provide a verbal report within a specified period of time, followed by a written report within time parameters established by the agency.

The pointing of weapons or using weaponless, hand-to-hand control techniques where there is little or no chance of resultant injuries does not necessarily trigger reporting unless deemed appropriate by the agency. These techniques include, but are not limited to; physical touching, gripping or holding, frisking, pain compliance measures, pressure point application, come-alongs, handcuffing, or other custodial procedures.

- 6.2.7.1 Death or injury, to include dissemination of information through the integrated crime alert network, as required by §175.51(2m), Wis. Stats. for fatal hit and run incidents.
- 6.2.7.2 Hit and run.
- 6.2.7.3 Property damage only.
- 6.2.7.4 Damage to public vehicles or property.

6.2.10 Escort Services

A written directive requires that the agency has procedures for law enforcement escort services that conform to §346.215, Wis. Stats., to include:

- 6.2.10.1 Escorts for dignitaries, convoys, parades, funeral, and oversized vehicles.
- 6.2.10.2 Civilian vehicle escorts in medical emergencies.

Context

Due to the considerable dangers involved, escort of civilian vehicles in emergencies is to be undertaken only if no viable alternatives exist. In most cases patients should be attended to and transported by trained EMS/medical personnel in an ambulance. If escorts are provided, safety of others on the roadway, the patient, and officers is paramount and is governed by procedures.

- 6.3.8.2 Responsibility for the criminal investigation and administrative review.
- 6.3.8.3 Adherence to guidelines outlined in §175.47, Wis. Stats., in the event the critical incident involves the death of an individual from an act or omission of an officer, or is likely to result in death.
- 6.3.8.4 Protection of the officer's legal rights and psychological well-being.
- 6.3.8.5 Removal from, and return to, full duty for the involved officer.
- 6.3.8.6 Timely notification of the officer's family, to include procedures for when the officer is seriously injured or killed.
- 6.3.8.7 Post incident procedures such as critical incident stress debriefing and post-traumatic stress.
- 6.3.8.8 Procedures for providing certain information to family members of a person killed in an officer-involved death, subject to §950.08(2g)(h), Wis. Stats., when the agency is responsible for conducting the investigation of an officer-involved death pursuant to §175.47, Wis. Stats.

Context

Section #4 – Criminal Intelligence and Information Sharing

6.4.1 Criminal Intelligence and Information Sharing

A written directive establishes procedures for the collection, processing, utilization, dissemination, and purging of intelligence information, to include:

- 6.4.1.1 Limiting intelligence information to that which pertains to criminal conduct or activities that present a threat to the community.
- 6.4.1.2 Ensuring safeguards for the security and storage of intelligence information separate from other records.
- 6.4.1.3 Establishing responsibility for the management of intelligence information.

Context

The criminal intelligence function relates to the collection, analysis, and dissemination of information that enables members of the organization or other law enforcement agencies to identify, investigate, deter, or solve criminal activity. In a larger organization, this function may be performed by a designated person or unit, while in a smaller organization, it may simply involve procedures that enable the sharing of pertinent information between shifts or organizational units. - 6.6.2.2 Citations or summonses to appear at intake in lieu of being taken into custody.
- 6.6.2.3 Referral to juvenile court.

Context

Agencies should have a wide range of alternatives ranging from warnings to intake. They should provide guidelines for officers in making diversion decisions taking into account such factors as:

- The age and circumstances of the offender.
- The nature and seriousness of the offense.
- The offender's record.
- The availability of community-based programs.

Chapter 7 – Transport, Processing, and Temporary Confinement of Detainees

Context

For the purpose of complying with Chapter 7, the following definitions shall apply:

1. Confinement (temporary) – means placing a person who has been arrested and is awaiting an initial appearance in court or posting of bond in a cell or holding room of a municipal lockup or jail.
2. Constant Supervision – as used in Section 7.2, means that during the period of contact with the detainee, an officer remains in close proximity to the detainee at all times and immediately attentive to the detainee’s needs and condition. It does not imply uninterrupted visual observation of the detainee.
3. Detainee – means a person transported to the law enforcement facility by an officer or who arrives at a law enforcement facility voluntarily and is subsequently taken into custody, and one of the following conditions apply:
 - a. A person arrested pursuant to §968.07, Wis. Stats.
 - b. A juvenile taken into custody pursuant to §938.19, Wis. Stats.
 - c. A person arrested pursuant to §§345.21 or 345.22, Wis. Stats.
 - d. A person arrested pursuant to §800.02(5) or (6), Wis. Stats.
 - e. A person otherwise arrested or lawfully detained or taken into custody and not free to leave.
4. Detainee Processing – means the completion of various tasks associated with the detention that must be performed prior to transfer to a municipal lockup or jail or eventual release. These tasks might include identification; investigation; interview/interrogation; performance of standardized field sobriety or chemical tests; collection of evidence from the detainee; booking activities, such as the collection of fingerprints, photographs, or DNA samples; release to a responsible adult/parent; etc. Detainee processing can occur within a municipal lockup or jail, or in other areas of a law enforcement facility outside the secure perimeter of a lockup or jail.
5. Jail – means a place of confinement operated by a sheriff for the purposes listed in §302.31, Wis. Stats., and governed by Department of Corrections Administrative Code Chapter 350. For the purposes of Chapter 7, Transport, Processing, and Temporary Confinement of Detainees, a jail can be considered a destination for detainees following the completion of processing, however, Section 7.3 does not apply to jails, since the temporary confinement of persons under arrest before being brought before a court or posting bond is but one of many functions of a jail as outlined in §302.31, Wis. Stats. The full extent of jail operations, including temporary confinement, is beyond the scope of these standards and more appropriately governed by Department of Corrections Administrative Code Chapter 350.
6. Municipal Lockup – means a facility within a police station that is used for the temporary confinement of persons under arrest until they can be brought before a court or post bond.
7. Temporary Detention – as used in Chapter 7, means securing a detainee in a locked room or to a fixed object outside of the secure perimeter of a municipal lockup or jail, without constant supervision of the detainee.

Section #1 – Search/Transport of Detainee(s)

7.1.1 Search of Detainees

A written directive requires that transporting officers search all detainees before being transported. The agency will ensure compliance with the requirements of §968.256, Wis. Stats., governing the search of a physically disabled person.

Context

The transporting officer is responsible for the safety of the public, other law enforcement personnel, and the detainee. Detainees should be searched/re-searched each time there is transfer of custody, including medical visits or court appearances.

7.1.2 Search of Transport Vehicles

A written directive requires vehicles used for transporting detainees must be inspected:

- 7.1.2.1 At the beginning of each shift, for mechanical condition, damage, required equipment, weapons, contraband, and/or personal effects.
- 7.1.2.2 Immediately before and after transporting a detainee for weapons or contraband.

Context

Pre-use inspection helps to ensure the vehicle is fit for use and is clear of weapons, contraband or personal effects. While the written directive requires inspection prior to loading a detainee, there may be a provision for waiving the pre-loading inspection in prescribed circumstances where there is no possibility the vehicle has been contaminated. The vehicle should be inspected after unloading the detainee to ensure it is clear of weapons, contraband or personal effects, and if any are found, an unbroken chain of possession can be established.

The transporting officer is responsible for ensuring the vehicle is properly equipped. A more thorough inspection than a basic pre-shift inspection is required in special transport situations involving the open road or long distances. In special transport situations, it is the transporting officer's responsibility to ensure the vehicle is in good operating condition and properly equipped with basic items, as well as special items as indicated by the circumstances.

7.1.3 Placement of Detainees and Officers in Vehicle

A written directive requires prescribed seating arrangements in the vehicle based on the number of detainees and transporting officers, and addresses transports of opposite sex detainees.

Context

Detainees should be observable at all times and secured using appropriate personal and vehicle restraint systems to minimize the chance for escape, attack of the transporting officer, or injury to the detainee. The detainee should be as comfortable as possible, commensurate with the demands of the trip being made.

7.1.7 Unusual Security Risks

7.1.8 Transport of Detainees with Special Needs

A written directive establishes procedures for transporting sick, injured, or disabled detainees.

Context

Improper restraint of sick, injured, or disabled detainees during transport can pose elevated risk of injury to the detainee or transporting officers, as well as elevated escape risk. Agency policy should prescribe when, how, and with what types of devices such detainees are to be restrained, and how particular restraining devices are to be used. The policy should prohibit practices that could lead to injury, exacerbate pre-existing problems or cause death.

If a detainee is injured while being arrested or is arrested and found to have unrelated sickness or injuries, immediate medical attention should be sought prior to transport to the custodial facility.

7.1.9 Medical Care

A written directive governs the procedures for transportation and confinement of detainees in medical care facilities or hospitals.

Context

To minimize the chance for attempted escape, suicide, or assault of medical staff, bystanders or law enforcement personnel, detainees should be kept in appropriate restraints and visually monitored at all times. Special precautions should be undertaken in those rare cases where the detainee is out of sight or unrestrained.

Detainees admitted to the hospital create on-going security challenges. Policy and procedural considerations should include:

- Detainee profile.
- Length and type of treatment.
- Facilities and associated risk factors.
- 24-hour coverage.
- Restraints.
- Medications, medically necessary appliances, meals, and utensils.
- Detainee contacts and communication. Visitors should be prohibited (including telephone contact with the detainee).

Provisions for rotational scheduling, training, and supervision of guards will help ensure incident-free confinements. Irregular incidents should be documented and communicated.

All agency and medical documentation, including written instructions and medication regimens, should accompany the detainee back to the detention facility.

If the agency uses areas outside the secure perimeter of a municipal lockup or jail for processing and/or temporary detention of detainees, a written directive identifies such areas and clearly establishes that detainee processing and/or temporary detention in other areas of the facility is prohibited.

Context

Processing includes the completion of various tasks associated with the detention that must be performed prior to transfer to a municipal lockup or jail or eventual release. These tasks might include identification; investigation; interview/interrogation; performance of standardized field sobriety or chemical tests; collection of evidence from the detainee; booking activities, such as the collection of fingerprints, photographs, or DNA samples; release to a responsible adult; etc.

- 7.2.4.1 Completion of an intake form on each detainee as outlined in 7.3.9.
- 7.2.4.2 Security inspection for weapons, contraband, and overall condition prior to the use of a temporary detention room and immediately after the room is vacated.
- 7.2.4.3 In-person, visual monitoring of detainees at 15 minute intervals.
- 7.2.4.4 Maintenance of observation logs documenting the visual monitoring activities required by 7.2.4.3.
- 7.2.4.5 Visual and auditory separation of adult and juvenile detainees.
- 7.2.4.6 Absent exceptional circumstances, a period of temporary detention of no more than two hours.
- 7.2.4.7 Personnel in direct, continuing contact with detainees require training covering the practice of temporary detention.

Context

Temporary detention of detainees outside of a municipal lockup or jail creates the same concerns as those associated with temporary confinement in either of the two aforementioned facilities. Unlike a municipal lockup or jail, however, such detention is not regulated by the Department of Corrections. As such, the temporary detention requirements of this standard and subsequent standards in this section are designed to regulate temporary detention outside of a municipal lockup or jail in a manner similar to those facilities.

In 7.2.4.3, in-person, visual monitoring cannot be replaced by video monitoring.

Section #3 – Temporary Confinement of Detainees in a Municipal Lockup

7.3.1 Municipal Lockups

If the agency operates a municipal lockup, a written directive identifies the specific areas within the law enforcement facility used for the temporary confinement of detainees before being brought before a court or released on bond.

Context

This section applies to agencies that maintain a lockup facility, as defined by Department of Corrections Administrative Code Chapter 349. The DOC defines "lockup facility" or "lockup" as a temporary place of detention within a police station which is used exclusively for confinement of persons under arrest before those persons are brought before a court or post bond. It is presumed that detainees not expeditiously released or transferred to a correctional facility following processing, testing, and/or interview/interrogation are being confined according to DOC 349 and the facility in which they are confined constitutes a lockup facility.

This section does not apply to jails, since the temporary confinement of persons under arrest before those persons are brought before a court or post bond is but one of many uses of a jail as outlined in §302.31, Wis. Stats. As such, the full extent of jail operations is beyond the scope of these standards and more appropriately governed by Department of Corrections Administrative Code Chapter 350.

7.3.2 Operations Training

A written directive requires personnel to be trained on the general operation of the lockup facility, including fire safety, first aid, suicide prevention, and other topics deemed necessary by the agency or the Department of Corrections, to ensure overall security and safety of agency personnel and detainees.

Context

Form and substance of training will be consistent with the nature of assignments and responsibilities.

- Personnel in direct, continuing contact with detainees require training covering application of physical restraints.
- Other personnel not working in direct contact with detainees should receive a general orientation on the operation of the lockup facility or jail specific to their role.

Fire safety training may include, but need not be limited to, operation of smoke and fire detectors, use of fire extinguishers, and fire hoses up to one and one-half inches and use of air packs.

7.3.3 Annual Inspection

The lockup facility is inspected and approved by the Department of Corrections on an annual basis.

Context

The annual inspection by the Department of Corrections ensures compliance with critical requirements, such as:

- Compliance with lighting and HVAC requirements.
- Access to toilets and drinking water.
- Access to a wash basin or shower, a bed, and clean, fire retardant bedding for detainees held in excess of 8 hours.
- Presence of an automated fire alarm system.
- Presence of a heat and smoke detection system.
- Presence of approved fire suppression equipment.
- Presence of a written directive prescribing fire prevention practices, procedures and required documentation for weekly visual inspections, semiannual testing and service of fire suppression equipment, periodic visual inspections, vendor service, and testing of the automatic fire detection devices and alarm systems.
- Presence of a conspicuously posted evacuation route.

7.3.6 Tools/Culinary Control

A written directive establishes agency control and movement of, and access to, tools and culinary utensils inside the lockup facility.

Context

There is a comprehensive system of controls applying to both agency personnel and outside maintenance personnel and vendors. An inventory should be made of all tools and utensils coming in and going out of the facility. There should be strict visual supervision of their use while inside the facility.

7.3.8.1 A process to positively identify the detainee.

7.3.8.2 A physical inventory search of the detainee prior to entry to the lockup facility.

Context

The agency should clearly specify the types and scope of searches to be conducted. The directive should be consistent with current legal standards governing strip searches and body cavity searches (see 1.7.7), as well as guidelines outlined in §968.256, Wis. Stats., Search of physically disabled person.

7.3.9 Intake Forms

A written directive requires that a booking intake form be completed on every detainee placed in the lockup facility. At a minimum, the form should capture the following information:

- 7.3.9.1 Reason for detention.
- 7.3.9.2 Current physical and mental health of the detainee, to include any suicidal thoughts or past attempts.
- 7.3.9.3 Medications (prescriptions and over the counter) taken by detainee.
- 7.3.9.4 Behavior, including state of consciousness and mental acuity.
- 7.3.9.5 Physical impairments, deformities, trauma markings, bruises, lesions, jaundice, mobility issues, injuries (treated or untreated) etc.
- 7.3.9.6 Inventory of property taken from a detainee and maintained in secure storage while in the lockup facility, to include disposition of detainee property upon release.

Context

The information is designed to help facilitate a safe and healthy environment for detainees and staff and to ensure security of detainee property. Further, it should help ensure proper identification of detainees.

The written directive should specify items the detainee may or may not retain. It is important to record carefully all property pending its return at the time of release. Unauthorized items and confiscated contraband should be shown on the inventory along with the detainee's signature, and a copy placed in the detainee's file. If possible, this process should be witnessed. If the detainee refuses to sign the inventory, it should be so noted.

Inventoried property should be returned to the detainee in return for a signed receipt. Contraband or other property of questionable nature or with possible evidentiary value may be retained by agency personnel for future disposition. Retained items should be noted as such on the receipt. If the detainee is released to the custody of a transporting officer for transfer to another facility, the property should be turned over to the transporting officer in return for a signed receipt. The lockup facility should keep a copy of all property receipts.

7.3.10 Separation of Adults and Juveniles

The agency requires that adults and juveniles confined in the lockup facility have visual and auditory separation.

Context

Commingling of adults and juveniles, while in a processing/detention setting, can have undesirable consequences. The intent of this policy is to ensure separation. Agencies can implement procedural alternatives to properly separated facilities.

The threshold for sound level is normal to loud conversation. Deliberate yelling and/or screaming must be controlled by other means.

7.3.11 Special Circumstances Detainees

A written directive requires procedures for confinement of inmates who have been identified by lockup staff as having a special problem, as described in DOC §349.12(1) such as mental disturbance, a suicidal tendency, severe impairment by alcohol or other drugs, severe alcohol or drug withdrawal, or who are otherwise violent or self-destructive.

7.3.11.1 These procedures shall include the requirement that areas occupied by such inmates shall be physically inspected at least once every 15 minutes.

7.3.11.2 Each inspection conducted according to 7.3.11.1 shall be recorded in the lockup log, including the time of the inspection and the inspecting staff member's initials.

Context

Detainees exhibiting signs as noted can pose additional challenges since lockup facilities are not normally designed or equipped to provide treatment or safe confinement.

Whenever possible, they should be detained in other facilities. When that is not possible, special consideration should be given to the safety of detainees and others. Staff should closely observe them.

7.3.18 24-Hour Supervision

A written directive requires the agency to maintain 24-hour supervision of detainees by agency staff. This includes documented visual observation at least once every 60 minutes.

Context

Twenty-four-hour supervision helps establish and maintain a safe and secure environment for detainees, staff and others. Proper supervision requires agency staff to be present in the same area of the building that houses the lockup facility and not at a remote location. Supervision cannot be delegated to a trustee.

To the extent possible, physical checks should be random so that the detainees cannot anticipate the checks. Special care such as increased type and frequency of monitoring is required for detainees who are security risks (violent, suicidal, mentally ill or those with bizarre or unusual behavior).

7.3.20 Mail

A written directive regulates detainee mail and/or packages. This may include a complete prohibition on all in-bound mail/packages. If mail or packages are allowed, the written directive shall address the following:

7.3.20.1 Procedures for accepting and inspecting items.

7.3.20.2 A listing of items that are prohibited.

- 7.3.20.3 Documentation of received/rejected items.
- 7.3.20.4 Distribution to and obtaining a receipt from the detainee.

Context

Detainee-held property poses hazards and problems that lockup facilities are not equipped to deal with. Therefore, agencies may wish to prohibit all deliveries.

If allowed, cash, checks, money orders or other items of value received from incoming mail or from visitors should be carefully inspected, receipted, inventoried, and stored with the detainee's other property. Any items received and given directly to the detainee should be carefully inspected for weapons, use as a weapon or escape tool, contraband, or other threat to the safety, security and order of the lockup facility, staff and detainees.

7.3.21 Visitors

A written directive regulates visitation of detainees.

Context

Temporary confinement settings, by function, are generally not designed or equipped to safely and efficiently accommodate visitors. Visits should be postponed until detainees are at their assigned correctional institution or otherwise released.

Security of the lockup facility and safety of detainees and staff are the top priority. If visitations are allowed, visitors and detainees should be closely monitored at all times to prevent the transfer of weapons or contraband. Visitors should be required to register providing acceptable documentation of identity, address, and relationship to the detainee prior to admission. Visitors (their person, and any belongings coming into direct contact with detainees) should be searched.

Preferably, when a detainee needs to meet with someone such as an attorney, the detainee should be removed from the temporary confinement area and taken to another location for the meeting. The detainee should be carefully searched before leaving and re-entering the temporary confinement facility consistent with agency search and inventory procedures.

Chapter 8 – Community Relations

Section #1 - Public Information Processes

8.1.1 Public Information Function

A written directive governs the public information function to include, but not be limited to:

- 8.1.1.1 Providing news media with timely access to information about newsworthy occurrences, both at the scene and on a follow up basis.
- 8.1.1.2 News releases and news conferences.
- 8.1.1.3 Release of information about victims, witnesses, and suspects, as well as confidential agency investigations and operations.
- 8.1.1.4 Joint release of information involving other agencies or entities.

Context

This standard sets the tone for the public information function of the agency. It is intended to ensure timely media access to accurate, up to date information, while preserving the integrity of pending cases and confidentiality, when required.

Protocols should exist for routine and exigent circumstances, including the absence of the CEO and/or designated public information officer. In those cases, all information released should be forwarded to the CEO/PIO as soon as practicable.

A comprehensive policy should govern release of information, including, but not limited to:

- Criminal or driving record, if any, and the character, background or reputation of the suspect.
- Mug shots of the suspect.
- The existence (or lack thereof) and types of evidence.
- The existence of any confession, admission of guilt, statement, or contents thereof, made by the suspect, or his/her failure/refusal to make a statement.
- The results of any examinations or tests conducted or refusal by the suspect to submit to any examinations or tests.
- The mere existence of, or the identity, testimony or credibility of, any witness.
- Opinions about the guilt or innocence of the suspect, merits of the case, or quality of evidence expressed by agency personnel.
- Identity of victims or juveniles.
- Information received from other law enforcement agencies without their concurrence in releasing that information.
- In situations involving multiple law enforcement or other public entities, such as the fire marshal, fire department, State Crime Lab, coroner, and EMS service, responsibility for release of information rests with the lead agency (one with primary jurisdiction).

Chapter 10 – Records

Section #1 – Records

10.1.1 Records Security

A written directive requires the agency to undertake privacy and security precautions for the agency’s records, which include, at a minimum:

- 10.1.1.1 Separation of juvenile criminal records from adult criminal records.
- 10.1.1.2 Policies and procedures governing collection, retention, storage and release of juvenile fingerprints, photographs, and other methods of identification.
- 10.1.1.3 Appropriate security measures for agency files, to include access limitations.

Context

§48.396 and §938.396, Wis. Stats., require records of juveniles to be kept separate from records of adults. The records system should distinguish between adult and juvenile criminal records. If the agency specifically identifies juvenile records and adult records to prevent unauthorized access and release they will be in compliance with this standard. This identification may include special marking of juvenile records, computer files that are marked and/or access restricted, or files that are physically separated. (WILEAG interpretation – 03/29/1999)

11.1.2 Evidence Collection

A written directive establishes guidelines and procedures for the collection, processing, and preservation of physical evidence. Procedures should include additional precautions for weapons, narcotics, currency and other dangerous or high-value items.

Context

To sustain a successful prosecution, agency personnel must utilize acceptable methods for field and lab processing of potential evidence, including maintenance of the chain of custody and integrity of evidence from scene to trial. Processes must be supported with proper equipment, trained personnel, and facilities. Special procedures should be considered for certain types of dangerous or high value evidence. For example, certain drug evidence includes the potential of exposure and may require precautions such as the use of gloves and a respirator, a fume hood, the presence of a second person, and the availability of naloxone. Currency might require the presence of a witness, dual signatures, use of a currency counter, and itemized denominations. And, biohazard evidence might require special packaging, drying, storage, and labeling. Security and record keeping are also essential parts of the process.

- 11.1.9.2 Packaging and conveyance of evidence to the laboratory.
- 11.1.9.3 Documentation needed to accompany evidence at time of transmittal.
- 11.1.9.4 Adequate receipts to support chain of custody.
- 11.1.9.5 Instructions directing that lab results be submitted in writing.

Context

The intent of this standard is to specify procedures for assuring the integrity and proper processing of evidence by outside resources and the transmittal thereto. There should be appropriate differentiation for perishable and non-perishable evidence.

The policies and procedures should also fix responsibility for decision-making relative to use of outside resources due to time and expense involved.

Written reports from all labs must document the results and findings on all work done. Verbal reports from the lab may be accepted as an interim or progress report. This applies to agency labs and outside resource.

Section #2 – Maintenance of Evidence/Property

11.2.1 Receipt of Evidence/Property

A written directive requires that all property and evidence obtained by agency personnel be:

- 11.2.1.1 Inventoried and logged into agency records as soon as possible.
- 11.2.1.2 Transferred to the property and evidence control function before personnel end their tour of duty.
- 11.2.1.3 Properly referenced to case numbers and described in a written report that also explains how the property came into the agency's possession.
- 11.2.1.4 Properly packaged and labeled prior to being put in storage.
- 11.2.1.5 Properly secured, including extra physical security or physical barriers for high value, sensitive or high-risk property, such as currency, jewelry, narcotics, firearms, or biohazards.
- 11.2.1.6 Researched for ownership, with an attempt made to notify the owner.
- 11.2.1.7 Temporarily or permanently released from storage according to agency protocol.

Context

The agency has a general duty to protect all property coming into its possession including a special duty to maintain a chain of custody when called for. Policies and procedures should be designed, and function, to protect the rights of owners of legal property as well as agency personnel and the agency itself. Additional precautions for high value, sensitive, or high-risk property include extra physical security or physical barriers to separate high value items from general property inside the property room.

A supervisor must approve any exceptions to the agency's policies and procedures, with interim steps taken to protect the property as dictated by the situation.

Personnel are not allowed to keep property in their office, desk, locker, vehicle, home, or other places not designated for property storage. Policy should prohibit personal use of any property.

An exception shall exist for large-scale drug drop-off programs, which should be conducted in accordance with state and federal guidelines for such initiatives.

11.2.6 System Integrity

The agency requires that periodic and event-specific inspections, audits, and inventories be completed and results documented and forwarded to the agency CEO. Such inspections, audits, and inventories shall include, but are not limited to:

11.2.6.1 Semi-annual inspections by the person in charge of the property and evidence control function (or his/her designee), intended to assess compliance with policies and procedures governing property and evidence management and control. These inspections must be conducted independent of any other required inspections or audits. The “person in charge of the property and evidence control function” implies an individual in the organization who oversees the person(s) performing the property and evidence control function.

11.2.6.2 An annual audit of property and evidence conducted by a supervisor not directly associated with the property control function. This audit must be conducted independent of other required audits or inspections. It should focus on high risk items; e.g., money, drugs, jewelry, firearms, but may be expanded to include other items. To ensure the integrity of the system and accountability for all property and evidence, the audit should incorporate a one-tailed test of statistical significance to test accuracy within a 95% degree of confidence and a +/- error rate of 4%. The appropriate sample size for such a test can be found in the table located in the context.

11.2.6.3 Random, unannounced inspections and/or audits are conducted at the discretion of the agency's chief executive officer. At least one random inspection and/or audit will occur annually. In the event of a random audit, the size of the sample to be audited will be determined by the chief executive officer.

11.2.6.4 A comprehensive audit of property and evidence whenever the primary person responsible for property and evidence control is replaced for any reason. The audit should be conducted jointly by the new property custodian and a person designated by the CEO. To ensure the integrity of the system and accountability for all property and evidence, the audit should incorporate a two-tailed test of statistical significance to test accuracy within a 95% degree of confidence and a +/- error rate of 4%. The appropriate sample size for such a test can be found in the table located in the context. An error rate that exceeds 5% of the sample size will require a full inventory of all high risk property and evidence.

Context

This standard is designed and intended to ensure the integrity of the system, not to require an accounting for every item of property. Thus, random sampling of property may be used to assess compliance with policies and procedures.

For the purposes of this standard, inspection means to examine the property/evidence function for the purpose of determining whether policies and procedures are being followed. An inspection can include tracing a few items of property/evidence to verify they are stored in the proper location. An audit refers the selection of a random sample of items of property/evidence to determine whether they can be properly accounted for. This process enables the auditor to draw conclusions about the integrity of the entire inventory of property/evidence. An inventory means a complete listing or record of every item of property/evidence the agency has in its custody or every item within a particular category, such as high risk items.

The following table depicts the appropriate sample sizes required to conduct a one-tail or two tail test of statistical significance as outlined in 11.2.6.2 and 11.2.6.4, above.

Total Number of High Risk Items {Money, drugs, jewelry, firearms }	Sample Size – 1 Tail Test	Sample Size – 2 Tail Test

Chapter 12 – Training

Section #1 – Weapons and Ammunition

12.1.1 Firearms, Ammunition and Other Weapons

A written directive requires that only weapons and ammunition approved by the agency are authorized for use in the performance of official duties. This standard applies both on and off duty, and addresses:

- 12.1.1.1 Types and specifications of authorized/approved lethal and less lethal weapons.
- 12.1.1.2 Types and specifications of authorized/approved ammunition.
- 12.1.1.3 The protocol for review, inspection, and approval of all weapons intended for use by each employee in the performance of duty prior to them being carried. The process is administered by a qualified weapons instructor or armorer and includes a process for removing unsafe weapons.
- 12.1.1.4 Maintaining a record of each firearm approved for official use.

Context

Strict control is maintained over all firearms, weapons, and ammunition authorized for carry and use in performance of official duties, both on and off duty. Clear guidelines are provided for the exact types and specifications of each weapon category.

For firearms, the agency has an approval process. Each firearm should be identified, meet the agency's established criteria and be safe and in good working order. A certified firearms instructor or armorer inspects and approves firearms.

The record should list the type, description, manufacturer, model, and serial number of each firearm, as well as the name of the owner or assignee.

12.1.2 Weapons Proficiency

A written directive requires that agency personnel must demonstrate proficiency in the use of agency-authorized weapons prior to being approved to carry/use such weapons.

Context

Evidence of proficiency can include but is not limited to:

- Completion of prescribed classroom work.
- Demonstrated knowledge of the laws covering the use of weapon(s) and knowledge of agency policy(s) on all aspects of the use of force.
- Demonstrated safe handling of all approved weapon(s).
- Satisfactory completion of a course of fire utilizing live fire or simulation technology.

12.1.3 Lethal Weapons Training and Qualification

At least annually, all agency personnel authorized to carry weapons are required to receive in-service training on the agency's deadly force policy and demonstrate proficiency with all approved lethal weapons that the employee is authorized to use.

- 12.1.3.1 A certified weapons instructor must monitor proficiency training.
- 12.1.3.2 Training and proficiency must be documented.
- 12.1.3.3 Where a course of fire or curriculum is established by the State of Wisconsin, officers must satisfy these requirements.
- 12.1.3.4 The agency must have procedures for remedial training for those employees who fail to meet minimum agency defined proficiency levels with an authorized weapon. Remediation must occur prior to resuming official duties.

Context

The deadly force policy refresher training can be delivered through one or more of the following or similar mechanisms:

- Live modules delivered at shift briefings.
- Recorded modules delivered at briefings or available for self-study.
- Written or skills tests during annual firearms qualifications courses.
- As a segment of a broader in-service training program.

Minimum firearms proficiency levels should be based on relevant criteria with input from certified weapons instructors, others in the agency and other sources as deemed necessary.

For an employee failing to meet minimum proficiency levels, successful remediation with appropriate documentation is required prior to the employee being allowed to return to duty with that weapon.

Context

The intent of this standard is to ensure that recruits have successfully completed a structured basic training course prior to unsupervised carrying of a weapon, enforcing the law, or making arrests. They could be used in such positions as communications, records, or other activities not involving enforcement activities or carrying a weapon.

Trainees participating in the formal field-training program are considered to be supervised for purposes of this standard.

12.2.4 Field Training

A written directive requires a field-training program for newly sworn officers. The program shall incorporate a comprehensive curriculum comprised of organizational policy and procedure for handling high frequency tasks/assignments, as well as low frequency, but high risk/liability tasks and assignments, and include:

- 12.2.4.1 A minimum duration of four weeks.
- 12.2.4.2 A rotation of field training assignments to ensure broad experience.
- 12.2.4.3 Structured evaluation of, and reporting on, a recruit's performance by field training officers.
- 12.2.4.4 Selection and training criteria for field training officers.
- 12.2.4.5 Active supervision of field training officers.

Context

The field-training program is a key supplement to the formal recruit classroom training and should be as actively managed as the classroom training.

There should be close supervision by well-trained FTO's, since the initial field experiences of a recruit often set the tone for his/her entire career. The selection of FTO's is crucial, as they serve as role models for desired values, tactics, and attitudes.

The agency should provide guidelines defining the responsibilities of the FTO.

The program should include an evaluation process and training for the FTO as well as for the trainee.

- 12.2.6.1 Offering career counseling covering topics such as advancement, specialization or training, to enhance performance in the employee’s current position.
- 12.2.6.2 Providing position specific training to officers receiving promotion or assignment to specialized positions.

Context

The agency has a career development program/plan that utilizes an ongoing inventory of skills, knowledge, and abilities for each employee to further their careers. The program/plan is evaluated as needed. Upon being promoted or assigned to a specialized position, an employee is trained and provided performance expectations for his or her new position.

Chapter 13 – Critical Incidents

Section #1 – Operations

13.1.1 All Hazard Plan

The agency has a written plan for responding to critical incidents. The plan incorporates ICS protocols and addresses such incidents as:

- 13.1.1.1 Civil disturbances.
- 13.1.1.2 Mass arrests.
- 13.1.1.3 Bomb threats.
- 13.1.1.4 Hostage/barricaded person situations.
- 13.1.1.5 Acts of terrorism.
- 13.1.1.6 Other unusual incidents or disasters.

Context

The Incident Command System (ICS) has proven very effective in federal and fire services emergencies over the past two decades. This system permits a clear point of control and can be expanded or contracted with ease to escalating or diminishing situations. The Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA) ICS is comprehensive, available on the Internet, and widely used.

The Incident Command System (ICS) establishes standardized incident management processes, protocols, and procedures that all responders-federal, state, tribal, and local-will use to coordinate and conduct response actions. With responders using a common language and standardized procedures, they will all share a common focus and be able to place full emphasis on incident management when a critical incident occurs-whether terrorism or natural disaster.

If the agency has either a full or part-time tactical team or participates in a multi-jurisdictional team, a written directive governs criteria for the selection and training of officers assigned to tactical operations. Assigned agency personnel participate in training that involves skill building and readiness exercises.

Context

Special screening and training is required because of the inherent physical and psychological stressors impacting tactical operations personnel. It is important that team members build and practice their special skills. It is equally important they have the ability to function effectively as a team. Effectiveness is dependent on team members being able to function at a high level on short notice. Role playing and operational simulations should be an integral part of the program. - 13.1.6.2 Availability of necessary equipment/resources.
- 13.1.6.3 Required training/certification for officers conducting search and rescue operations.

Context

For the purpose of this standard, search and rescue operations represent a coordinated effort to locate individuals missing in wooded or wilderness terrain, large bodies of water, or other environments presenting similar challenges. It often involves the use of special vehicles, such as boats, aircraft, or ATV's, specially trained personnel, such as scuba divers or trackers, service animals, such as K9 or mounted units, and organized volunteers.

- 14.1.2.1 A list of rights of victims under §950.04(1v).
- 14.1.2.2 The availability of Crime Victim Compensation and the address and telephone number to contact the Department of Justice for information concerning compensation.
- 14.1.2.3 The address and telephone number of the intake worker, corporation counsel, or district attorney whom the victim may contact to obtain information concerning the rights of victims and to request notice of court proceedings and the opportunity to confer.
- 14.1.2.4 The address and telephone number of the custodial agency the victim may contact to obtain information concerning the arrest and/or custody of a person in connection with the crime of which he or she is a victim.
- 14.1.2.5 The address and telephone number of the custodial agency the victim may contact for information concerning release of a person arrested or taken into custody for the crime of which he or she is a victim.
- 14.1.2.6 Suggested procedures for the victim to follow if he or she is subject to threats or intimidation arising out of his or her cooperation with law enforcement and prosecution efforts relating to a crime of which he or she is a victim.
- 14.1.2.7 The address and telephone number at which the victim may contact the department or any local agency that provides victim assistance in order to obtain further information about services available for victims, including medical services.

Context

Crime victims pursue enforcement of rights through informal reviews by the Department of Justice, formal complaints to the Wisconsin Crime Victims' Rights Board (CVRB), and/or by asking a circuit court to enforce a right. The CVRB has authority to issue sanctions for violations pursuant to §950.09. More information about victims' rights enforcement can be found at www.doj.state.wi.us/ocvs.
