

January 2017

PAT and China Huanqiu Contracting & Engineering Corp. (Liaoning) Company (HQCLN) Join Forces to Provide Complete International Seawater Desalination Projects.

PAT and HQCLN announced an agreement to co-operate comprehensively on international seawater desalination projects. HQCLN is an engineering design and general contracting enterprise and have the qualifications and ability to undertake oil refining, petrochemical engineering and related engineering design, engineering cost, engineering consulting and engineering general contracting project ability.

This joint venture will enable us to provide a comprehensive solution to desalination plants and customers anywhere in the world.