August ASC Trip to Wimberley, Texas

Cypress Creek and the Blanco River meet in Wimberley, just an hour outside of Austin.

Wimberley Glassworks, Wimberley Valley Winery and the shady Wimberley Square (shopping and dining) are featured attractions.

Plan to meet at the Square at 9:00 August 27 for a short get together and the plan for the morning. There is lots to see and photograph in and around town, including street photography, images of art-work and antiques and of course, the two rivers. Remember, we are in a state of drought, so the rivers may not yield the photos we remember. But there is still a lot to photograph.

Gather at 11:30 AM at the Wimberley Café for lunch. It's right on the square and you cannot miss it. Reservations are not accepted, so it will be first-come, first-served. The breakfast crowd starts at 7:00AM, so the crowd continues throughout the day. So, the earlier the better.

AN ARTISTIC SORT OF GUY

John M. Davis

I've always been a right-brain, artistic sort of guy. I guess that's why I became an architect and why I love photography so much. I grew up next door to an art gallery and I have collected art my entire adult life. I remember when I was about 12 years old, the gallery had a small ink drawing of a dog by Norman Rockwell which was priced at $100. I wanted that drawing more than anything and started saving my money. Long before I could reach my goal, the drawing was sold, and I was crushed.

I now have over 100 works of art on display in my home. I have original work from artists such as:

Pablo Picasso, Salvador Dali, Andy Warhol, Jean-Michel Basquiat, Charles M. Schulz, Roy Lichtenstein, Robert Rauschenberg, Diego Rivera and, of course, a boy with a dog by Norman Rockwell. During this period of confinement, my art has been of great comfort to me.

Austin Shutterbug Meeting Minutes

July 7, 2022

Brian Loflin began the meeting at 7:05 pm. A slideshow was running showing the photos taken by members at the last field trip in Walburg.

Brian outlined the programs for the upcoming meetings: August - review of landscape photos; September - a program regarding real estate photography by Bruce Lande; October - review of photos of three-dimensional public art; November - a program on how to use software to make a good photograph out of a bad one; and December - review of holiday photos. Steve Houston asked if anyone had questions about the landscape assignment.

Joyce and Richard Bennett gave a program regarding planning road trips, and then showed photographs of their lengthy trip to the US Northwest states.

The next field trip is Saturday, July 09, at Hill Country Water Gardens.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:04 pm.
