

WANT TO LEARN MORE ABOUT HOW OUR LAND USES IMPACT WATER QUALITY AND NATURAL RESOURCES?

PLAY THE WATERSHED GAME!

It's fun and interactive!

This active hands-on game helps groups learn the importance of considering all land uses within a watershed to achieve clean water goals and why cooperation is an essential part of managing water and land use.

Invite your organization, club, workplace, or a group of friends and neighbors to play this active, hands-on game. In the Watershed Game packet below, you will find a list of 28 of your fellow Jo Daviess County citizens trained in facilitating the Watershed Game. Just call or email anyone on the list to schedule your group's Watershed Game meeting.

The Watershed Game can be played with a minimum of four people to a maximum of 20. Gameplay takes 45 minutes. Schedule a full hour to have time for discussion after the game.
