Church members attending annual meeting approve up to $1.5 million for new multipurpose facility

A quorum of eleven voting members were on hand for the January 26 annual meeting following the worship service. Those members voted to approve spending up to $1.5 million to build a multipurpose facility on the site of our former church.

Church leaders say the building will be used for church services, community use and the possibility of a school site. A church building would be constructed later.

Members also authorized a salary of $70,000 for the new pastor, plus up to $25,000 for advertising for the position and assisting with moving expenses.

Also presented at the meeting was the financial report for 2019, the budget for 2020 and reports from various church committees.

What about a new pastor?

Craig Memorial Congregational Church has formed a Pastoral Search Committee tasked with identifying our congregation's needs and creating a process to find an interim pastor then a "permanent" pastor. The group meets at least once a month and will keep members informed of their progress.
