

THE CORSAIR

IPMS Phoenix / Craig Hewitt Chapter

We are back to full normal service. At the meeting on June 8th we had 66 members in attendance (Who actually signed in) I am pretty sure we had more than that but I can only go by the sign in sheet. We also had 3 visitors. Also on that night we had 6 new members and one returning member join the club so the roster now stands at 131 which is pretty good for a club membership.

As you can see from the picture the “Welcome Back” cake went down very well and went so fast that this is the only picture I got of it. The July meeting is on the 6th so I will see you there.

Make & Take CAF Museum 06/10

On June 6th our club was asked to host a make and take event at the CAF Museum at Falcon Field. Don Stewart, Ed Kucharski, Lyn and Laura Gorton headed up the team who entertained 21 young adults from The Aviation Summer camp inside the Museum. All of the youngsters were given a choice of 5 different airplane snap together kits to build, and they all had a great time putting them together. It is a vital part of what we do as a chapter, to encourage the younger generation to take up the hobby, and by the results of this venture, we have at least a handful that went away with their models ready to take on another kit.

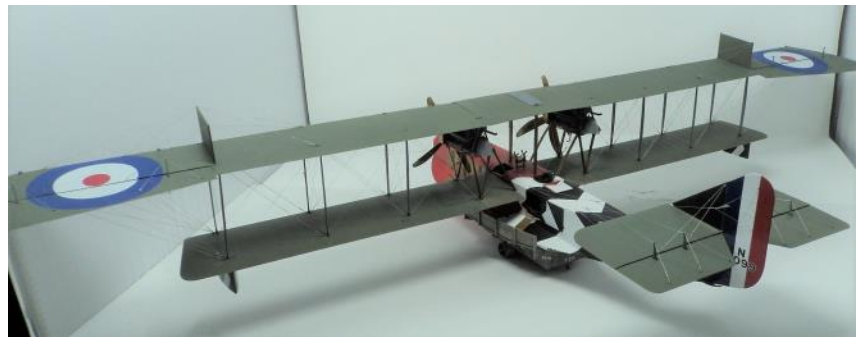

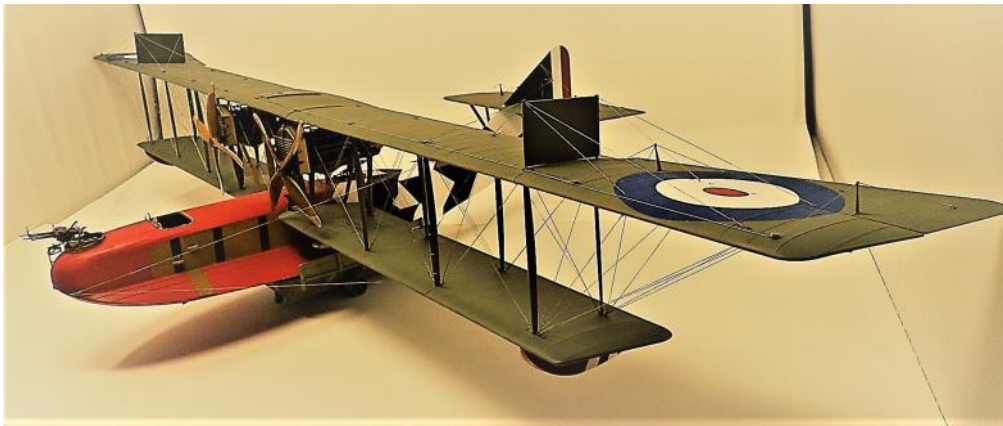

Of course the advantage of doing a make and take at this venue is that we all got to have a look around at the current exhibits as well.

It was a good two hours spent well, from all sides, and I would encourage more of you to get involved with the make and takes that we as a club put on (Next up will be at Modelzona and I am sure Ed will be looking for more volunteers)

Felixstowe F.2a by Mark Krumrey

The Felixstowe F.2a was probably the most successful flying boat of the First World War. With a crew of 5 it was capable of carrying out long range reconnaissance, anti-submarine, and anti-shipping patrols of up to 10 hours duration as well as bomb key German positions and Naval Air Stations, The Mole at Zeebrugge on the Flanders Coast being one of them.

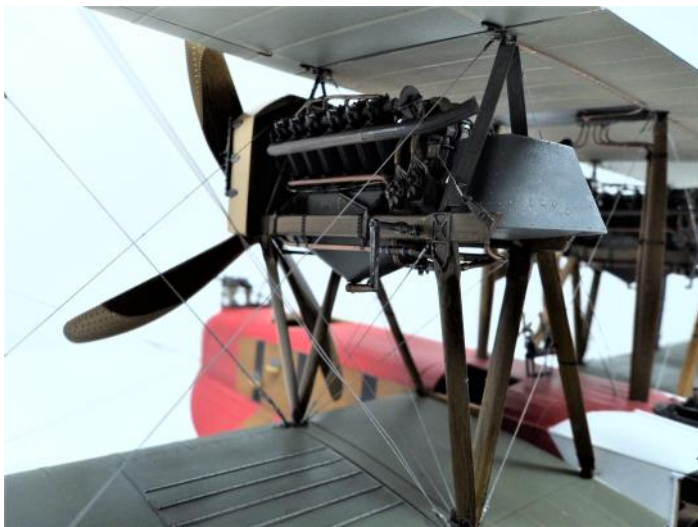

The development of the Felixstowe F.2a is essentially an Anglo-American design which can trace its roots to the pre war Glenn Curtiss & Cyril Porte designed 180hp twin engine 'America' flying boat design. This basic design was improved, enlarged, strengthened and repowered successively by both Curtiss and Porte (having now returned to service in the RNAS after the outbreak of war despite suffering from Tuberculosis) over the next few years until July 1917 when Porte arrived at the characteristic deep 'V' hull with full side fins. Although technically now a wholly Porte design these Felixstowe flying boats, so named because they were developed at the RNAS Seaplane Experimental Station at Felixstowe in Suffolk, were referred to as 'Large Americas' by the British and as 'Curtiss' types by the Germans.

Felixstowe F.2a by Mark Krumrey

The twin 375hp Rolls Royce Eagle VIII powered Felixstowe F.2a featured a deep 'V' hull constructed using boat building techniques with diagonal planking on the bottom while the tops of the fins were plywood and doped fabric. delivered with glazed cabins were later converted to open top configuration. A modified V12 Liberty engine powered version was manufactured by Curtiss in America as the H.16.

The Model:

I started this build on 11 January 2021 and wrapped it up on 17 May 2021. It was/is a very enjoyable build. I built it out of the box except for Bob's Buckles Tubes and Eye-lets, Gaspatch Turnbuckles and various rigging material.

I didn't follow the steps in the direction booklet, I started with the cradle to support the hull, did the engines, guns, bombs and then moved on to the normal step by step construction.

Felixstowe F.2a by Mark Krumrey

I left the guns, windshields, and props off until the very end. The instructions would have the modeler attach the lower wings to the hull and then attach the bombs to the center section. I chose to attach the bombs to the center section prior to fixing the lower wings. Wingnut wings offers the modeler the choice to not cement the wings to the center section to allow easy removal for storage, but I think this is a great concept, but suspect the execution of removing and re-attaching the wings could preclude a disaster, so I chose to fix the wings to the center section. Otherwise the build progressed without any major issues. In hindsight, (always 2020) I would paint the chevrons starting from aft and work my forward to get the proper spacing, the same goes for the floats. I also chose to have the chevrons on the upper portion facing aft vice forward. There were really no clear images of the top of the hull so I went with aft facing.

BY LYN GORTON

Work is underway for our Modelzona show on November 6th. The committee has already had a few meetings and Vendors are signing up. You will find a flyer for the event (with all the info) on the last page of this Corsair. You can also find the modelzona info on the club website (www.ipms-phoenix.com)

The website has been updated with all the new information as well as registration forms etc.

The Modelzona committee are expecting a large attendance at the event and are asking for various volunteer positions to be filled by the club membership.

Foremost of these are the requirements for volunteers to help out with registration and information.

If you would like to get involved with helping the club with this event please contact Ed Kucharski at his email edkucharski@hotmail.com

MiG-21 group build.

For those who are building or want to participate in my MiG-21 group build for the 2021 IPMS nats in Las Vegas.

I need a head count and what you are working on or have finished for the build. I am going to be buying bases for all of you so I need this info.

Thanks
