Once details and music selection have been established, I will then review everything with you and ensure we are all on the same page.

Next Step:

Once we have locked everything in, I will be in contact with you via email or phone (your preference) if anything needs to be followed up. Otherwise I will contact you via phone the week before your function to confirm all details and discuss last minute queries.

At the function:

- I will arrive with adequate time to set up
- We will touch base and discuss the final running of the event (eg: timing of speeches, cakes, awards)
- You can enjoy your special event

Hopefully the above gives clear and concise information as to what to expect during the booking process and leading up to the function. If you're happy with how it sounds and think this is right for you, give me a call to get the ball rolling and people dancing.

Thank you
