

Manu Arora

Principal Consultant, Transformation and Change Agent, OD Leader, Performance Coach

Experience

Manu Arora has 20 years of rich and diverse experience in global business environments in a variety of functional and business HR leadership roles. Manu has extensive experience in helping organizations set up business lines and people strategy and build employer brands in the markets to create a robust talent pool.

Manu has a strong foundation through a decade in the Information Technology Services industry at Tata Consultancy Services in Global Business and Regional roles in India international locations, after which he headed the Human Resources partner function for global business lines at Nokia Siemens Networks. Manu was the Global Head of HR at Nucleus Software, a leading IT product organization and has also led HR globally in the real estate industry at IndiaHomes.com.

With a passion for driving business and people results, Manu has strong experience of leading organizational change, cultural integration and transformation and leadership effectiveness.

Manu has led and managed large global change programs and competence based people processes towards successful customer result enhancement. Manu has a strong systems thinking approach to solving near term business pains and building long term business foundations.

Manu holds a Master in Human Resource and Organizational Development from the University of Delhi.