

Anna LoMascolo

Co-Director of Programming, Women's Center
Virginia Tech

Anna LoMascolo serves as co-director of the Women's Center at Virginia Tech. In her role, she manages all aspects of the center's education and outreach programming including program design, implementation, supervision, and assessment of their efforts aimed at advocacy and educating the university community about gender, women's issues, diversity, equity and social justice. Under Anna's leadership, the center's programming has received the Alumni Award for Excellence in Outreach, and the Women's Leadership and Mentoring Program received the American Council on Education Women's Network Leadership Award. Anna is also a proud member of the Board of Directors for The Virginia Network. Anna received her B.A. in Communication Studies from Virginia Tech, her M.A. in Sociology from Humboldt State University, and her Ph.D. in Sociology with a Graduate Certificate in Women's Studies from Virginia Tech.