The facts are that arts education...

- makes a tremendous impact on the developmental growth of every child and has proven to help level the
 "learning field" across socio-economic boundaries.
 (Involvement in the Arts and Success in Secondary School, James S. Catterall, The UCLA Imagination
 Project, Graduate School of Education & Information Studies, UCLA, Americans for the Arts Monograph, January 1998)
- has a measurable impact on youth at risk in deterring delinquent behavior and truancy problems while also increasing overall academic performance among those youth engaged in after school and summer arts programs targeted toward delinquency prevention.

Businesses understand that arts education...

- builds a school climate of high expectation, discipline, and academic rigor that attracts businesses relocating to your community.
- strengthens student problem-solving and critical thinking skills, adding to overall academic achievement and school success.

- helps students develop a sense of craftsmanship, quality task performance, and goal-setting—skills needed to succeed in the classroom and beyond.
- can help troubled youth, providing an alternative to destructive behavior and another way for students to approach learning.
- provides another opportunity for parental, community, and business involvement with schools, including arts and humanities organizations.
- helps all students develop more appreciation and understanding of the world around them.
- helps students develop a positive work ethic and pride in a job well done.
