

Jackie Jones

Jackie is a native of Calvert County, MD and strives to participate in activities that enhance her ability to support her writing and improve her community to ease economic hardships and the issues that are directly related. What stands out most about Jackie is her ability to read and interpret human nature and utilize this skill to help develop individuals, build business and write enthralling stories on multiple levels.

Jackie obtained a dual Bachelor of Science degree in Human Resource Management and Business Administration from Franklin University. She is an author under the Shade Publishing umbrella with a book entitled 'In Rehab'. The teenage romance novel, is a story of two teenagers from the same high school who attend the same rehabilitation facility and become fast friends as they push each other to reuse their legs. Its ending is emotional as the couple shocks the student body by standing to dance at the high school prom. When she is not working she enjoys writing, cooking, reading and bowling.
