

AGRICULTURAL VETERINARY

ASSOCIATES LLC

Dr. Cindy Foulke recently received extensive continuing education in veterinary acupuncture by the Chi Institute in Florida.

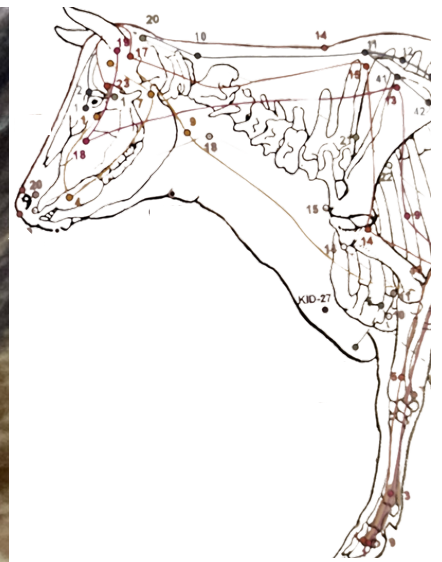

Cynthia Foulke, DVM

NEW SERVICE

Acupuncture

Conditions that can benefit from acupuncture include musculoskeletal disorders such as arthritis, disc disease, back pain, laminitis, and injuries, gastrointestinal disorders, neurologic problems, respiratory issues, and chronic diseases.

Agricultural Veterinary Associates is excited to announce a new service being provided to our clients. Acupuncture therapy is now being offered for all large animal species.

This is a great alternative medicine practice which has been well researched and has documented many beneficial physiological changes. Alternative medicine therapies are not meant to be miracle cure-alls, but to be used along with conventional western medicine.

If you think your animal could benefit from acupuncture or you would like a consultation to assess your animal to see if it is a candidate, please call our office to set up an appointment.

Office: 717-625-4212

www.agvets.com