If you would like to have the WEEKLY BULLETIN DELIVERED DIRECTLY TO YOUR INBOX? Please send your email address to parish.office@qasmoncton.com

As you know our parishes rely on weekly collections, so if at all possible, please continue to make your weekly contribution. The office is closed but you can mail in your envelope or drop it off in our mail slot in the front door of the rectory which faces Dominion Street. If you would like to consider changing over to pre-authorized payments, please leave a message on our phone line and someone will call you back to set this up. We continue to hold you in prayer in this difficult time and greatly appreciate your faithfulness.

Queen of All Saints
Family Faith sessions remain cancelled until further notice.

During these difficult times Queen of All Saints Parish Grouping will update our website regularly with any changes as they occur. Please check often at www.qasmoncton.com

Health Healing Care

These words have never seemed as important as they do today. We focus on the physical aspects of our life; our bodies, our finances, our social lives. Calamities that have struck the rest of the world seem very close to us now. Lent is a time to focus on the spiritual aspects of our lives, the very real spiritual lives we are dealing or not dealing with.

We started with the temptation of Jesus, and the Devil's offer to provide easy solutions to the things Jesus had to deal with; just make them go away. The Transfiguration showing us the glory of God, to strengthen us for the trials that were to come soon. The woman at the well, whose self isolation was a rejection by her fellow villagers. She was not only healed but the villagers as well. The healing of the blind man, which teaches that Jesus has come "into this world for judgement so that those who do not see may see, and those who do see may become blind."

Which brings us to the wonderful story of the death of Lazarus. "This illness does not lead to death; rather it is for God's glory, so that the Son of God may be glorified through it." Let us move away from our worry, our frustrations and our fears. Let us believe, know and act that all that is going on is for the glory of God, so that the son of God may be glorified through it. Let Jesus be the true source of your Health, Healing and Care.

I remain your happy, joyful priest,
Father Angus

Exploring our Faith

*"I will... bring you up from your graves, O my people.
I will put my spirit within you, and you shall live..."*

Outside my window birds are singing and tulips are poking through a small patch of warmed soil in my flowerbed. How can nature seem so predictably normal, while in our human reality nothing feels normal or solid? It's been said that humanity's true character is often exposed when confronted with great upheaval and uncertainty. I suspect the coronavirus pandemic of 2020 will prove no different when we look back in the months and years to come, and reflect on who "we became" during this time of turmoil.

For three Sundays, the gospels tell of how Jesus revealed his true identity and purpose as "living water" to the Samaritan woman at the well, "the light of the world" to the man born blind and as "the resurrection and the life" in this Sunday's story of Lazarus being restored to life. Each time, Jesus challenges those whom he encounters, to trust and to believe in the power of God working through him. As we face our present-day adversity, our own faith and trust in God's presence is also being challenged.

For some, fear may lead them to overlook the loving God in whom Jesus asks us to trust. They're convinced that disasters are a sign that God is punishing a sinful world. Really? Would the loving and merciful God shown to us by Jesus over and over in our gospels, sacrifice the elderly and most vulnerable to teach the world a lesson? What image of God does this "teach" us? Still others might abandon their faith in God completely, as they doubt a benevolent God would allow such disasters to even occur. For those who question God's "motive," I recall words of Fr. Ronald Rolheiser who reminds us that God promises to "redeem," not "rescue;" promising to redeem what is broken and fearful into something that is whole and life-giving. God did not "rescue" Jesus, nor did Jesus "rescue" Lazarus. He did redeem them, however.

Today's gospel shows God's commitment not only to life after death, but of God's promise to bring new life and hope to all the dark places in our lives today! There are many among us who, long before they are buried in the ground, are "buried" in the darkness of anxiety, hopelessness and loneliness. I was struck by the commands Jesus gives to those around Lazarus' grave that still challenge us today: "Roll away the stone," "Come out!" and "Unbind him and let him go." Are we not also being challenged to remove the "stones" or barriers that keep people trapped in darkness, by reaching out in friendship and acts of neighbourly compassion that they may see some light in their lives?

Is Jesus not asking those who feel "buried" by overwhelming fears of the future to "Come out" into the world and share both their gifts and burdens with others, so that "burdens shared may become burdens halved?" Giving of oneself diminishes our sense of loss and nurtures gratitude for what we do have.

For those of us who have time, finances and prayers to offer, is Jesus not challenging us to give of what we have so that those who are on the front line of essential services are not "bound" in their efforts by shortages of materials or worries that their own families are not being cared for? We can all do something to "open the graves" of fear and hopelessness of those who are struggling the most in this newest adversity of our time.

The inevitable approach of spring reminds us all that God's gift of new life and new hope is always available to us – even if we may not always feel it. Jesus challenges us to trust that God is alive and working amidst us (faith), that God's redeeming love will always prevail (hope), and that we are called to be Christ to all who are most in need (charity), not just in our present adversity but in the years to come.
