Flagpole	Bronze plaque on metal support	In Honor of Public Service There is a moral pact between citizens for a civil society in which we respect the rights and dignity of each other. The pact is fortified with laws written by citizens for the health, welfare and protection of the community. There are men and women who have chosen to dedicate their lives to the community and to the enforcement of these laws so chaos will not reign. Among these brave men and women, there are those who have given their lives to insure the pact will continue for those who remain. The citizens of University City honor here all these public servants for their unwavering commitment to the pact and the resulting civil society in which we live. Garden	Bronze plaque with metal support	Harriett Woods 1927-2007 A lifetime of community involvement began when the rattling sound from a manhole cover on a University City street prevented her children from sleeping. Getting involved to solve this problem would lead Harriett Woods to serve as: -University City Council Member (1967-1974), where she fought for racial equality and was instrumental in revitalizing the Loop Business District -State Senator (1977-1984), where she led the passage for groundbreaking nursing home reform -Lieutenant Governor (1985-1989), becoming the first woman elected statewide in Missouri -President of the National Women's Political Caucus (1991-1995), helping get a record number of women appointed to the Cabinet of President Bill Clinton. But the lessons from her political career are more simple: start with something you care about... Get personally involved in the community... and help people Inspiring others to do the same, Harriett remained committed to those values... and University City... for more than 50 years.
