a. Read the first section about the diseases, high mortality rates, and predominantly male society that evolved in the Chesapeake colonies.  If you are male, would you have been motivated to leave England for this environment? If you are female, would you have considered emigrating? Why or why not?

b. What were indentured servants and why were they needed in the tobacco economy?(1) Definition:
(2) Need:
c. What was the headright system and how did it lead to the formation of an aristocratic landowning class? (1) Definition:
(2) Effect:
d. How was Bacon's Rebellion of 1676 an example of the consequences of too many ex-indentured servants and the conflict between the backcountry and the tidewater elite?
Colonial Slavery (pp. 70–73) a. With about million Africans transported to the New World, the slave trade must have been a huge business—and a business conducted without much if any visible popular objection. Look at the chart on p. 70 and note that only about percent of the slaves sent on the dreaded "Middle" actually ended up in British North America. What happened in the 1680s to drastically increase the flow of African slaves into the American colonies?
b. The authors conclude the section by noting that "slaves in the South proved to be a more manageable labor force than white indentured servants."  Why might this have been the case?
c. Read the insert section about Africans in America. What two elements of the emerging African-American culture and religion impressed you the most?(1)
