Cover Sketch: Trolley Car
 By Frances Oliver

I once said that I had a mission to print any of his material. Consequently I have a huge backlog which I shall print from time to time in future issues. Sometimes highly educated persons have a tendency to look down their noses at we lesser mortals. BUT NOT GEORGE!!! So, goodby, old friend and may you rest in peace.

Fortunately, George was a prolific writer and long ago gave me permission to print any of his material. Consequently I have a huge backlog which I shall print from time to time in future issues. Sometimes highly educated persons have a tendency to look down their noses at we lesser mortals. BUT NOT GEORGE!!! So, goodby, old friend and may you rest in peace.

MAXINE E. WORMER
 Editor

P.S. George's newspaper gleanings from the Sentinel (pp. 13-15) are the last that will be printed as I have no more. Dolores FORB HOBBLY's gleanings from the Kinmundy Express (pp. 13-15) were most welcome. If Dolores, or anyone else for that matter, would care to send in newspaper gleanings they too would be most welcome.
