Meet our Miniature Zebu Judges

David Millison

David is a licensed AMZA judge and has been judging miniature zebu as well as other breeds and species of livestock for over thirty years. He has been raising and showing livestock for over fifty years. David has traveled to 31 states evaluating miniature zebu cattle and educating himself about the breed. David has been raising miniature zebu cattle for 19 years and currently has over seventy-five head of AMZA registered miniature zebu cattle.

Allyn Walker

Allyn graduated from the University of Florida in 1986 with a degree in Agriculture majoring in Animal Science. He was a Livestock/4H Agent for 7 years (5 in North Carolina and 2 in Florida) and taught high school agriculture for one very long year. His daughter is directly responsible for his involvement in the meat goat industry. She started showing meat goats in 2003, buying her first herd (3 goats) in 2004. Started Stargazer Ranch Boer Goats in 2006. Active with the American Boer Goat Association since the beginning. Allyn has volunteered for both 4H and FFA during his daughter's youth show career and continues his involvement even after her graduation in 2011. He has taught meat goat showmanship and fitting and grooming to several youth in his county, as well as teaching clinics for 4H Programs throughout Florida. Allyn has served as President of the Florida Meat Goat Association for one year and is currently serving on the show committee for the Florida State Fair Youth Meat Goat Show. He has been judging meat goats 'in the ring' for six years in Florida and judging dairy goats for approximately two years. This will be Allyn's second judging opportunity to judge an AMZA sanctioned Miniature Zebu Show.
