

Press release 01.10.2017

Long Way Home Music invite you to their Booking Agency Launch - 10th November 2017 8pm @
The Harrison, 28 Harrison Street, Kings Cross, London WC1
8JF

Compered by: Guardian columnist and banjoist,
Tim Dowling

Featuring Hatful of Rain, Hickory Signals and Cory Flynn

Hatful of Rain

Hatful of Rain are a contemporary folk group mixing British and American styles. They combine powerful songwriting with musical flare, using a single microphone approach to create an intimate and engaging atmosphere to their live performances.

"The combination of mandolin, banjo, bass and fiddle is nigh on perfect" - Spiral Earth.

"Songs that will make you dance and songs that will make you cry - get a chance to see them perform live" - FATEA

"Hauntingly beautiful...I love it" - Bob Harris, Radio 2.

"The most melodic roots music you are likely to hear anywhere" - Americanrootsuk.com

"Sinking" (Live)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=BFfgUGsOHgY>

Hickory Signals

Folk duo, Hickory Signals, combine strong vocal melodies with vibrant guitar, shruti, flute, and pulsing percussion in an enthralling live set comprised of both original songs and traditional arrangements. The duo's sound has been described as haunting and cinematic.

"Like stepping back into a bygone age, both in terms of musicality and atmosphere" - FATEA

"Ward has one of the most pure, charming and elegant voices on the circuit today" – Artree Folk and Roots

"Doors To My Mind" (Live)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WW-4IFSQhJs>

Cory Flynn

A young singer songwriter of tremendous range and intelligence, Cory released his debut album on Long Way Home Music on 14th September 2017. Poet Ian McMillan said of Cory.

"These are songs by a true storyteller; Cory could buttonhole you in a crowded pub and make you listen and make you think. I come out of the other side of Cory's songs changed from the person I was when I went into them, which is what I want from a songwriter."

Foreign Storm (Live)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WW-4IFSQhJs>

Tim Dowling

Tim Dowling is an American journalist and author who writes a weekly column in The Guardian about his life with his family in London. Tim also plays a mean banjo for country rock band Police Dog Hogan.

365 WORDS

END

EDITOR'S NOTES

General press contact: kairen@kairenkemp.co.uk

For interview bookings, photos and artwork please contact Kairen – details below

Kairen Kemp

music PR |

editor What's On Guide & Brighton Visitor |

Tel : 07752322324

Kairen@kairenkemp.co.uk

@kairenk

Kairenkemp.co.uk

facebook.com/ kairenkemp

longwayhomemusic.co.uk

@LongWHMusic

facebook.com/LongWayHomeMusic