AAC: Ready - Set - GOAL! Part 1
May 20, 2019 10:00 am - 11:00 am

Creating goals and measuring progress for individuals who use AAC can be a challenging process for a variety of reasons, including subtle growth, environmental and communication partner considerations, and differences in language growth for individuals who use AAC.

AAC: Ready - Set - GOAL! Part 2
May 21, 2019 10:00 am - 11:00 am

This course follows AAC: Ready – Set – GOAL! Part One.

Complex Communication Needs pose a unique challenge, but with the right tools and the right approach, you can personalize and focus your students' therapy experience.

- The Communication Matrix is a free, online tool that asks simple questions about what communication behaviors an individual is demonstrating at seven different levels of communication.

Encourage Students to Use AAC by Supporting Communication Partners

Help embed AAC use into a student's daily routine through close work with teachers, paraeducators and families. Allowing students with little or no functional speech a way to say whatever they want to say, whenever they want, to anyone of their choosing is an ambitious goal. <http://tinyw.in/03oi>
