- Business Intelligence (BI)

In today's fast-moving organizations, BI is essential for consistent execution of strategy by top management, improving forecast accuracy and measuring profitability. All companies - both large and small - face the same basic challenges: to deliver value to customers, reduce expenses and get ahead of competitors. Most business reports today are pieced together from many data sources, including e-mails, spreadsheets and databases. Despite the multitude of data sources, often the data is outdated, you have conflicting "versions of the truth" or the data is presented in a format that decision makers must transpose into a spreadsheet for further analysis.

We can help you create or redefine your BI strategies. We can empower every person in your business to make better choices and decisions every time as they will have the necessary information at their fingertips. This will save time and effort in making quick and confident decisions that today's hypercompetitive environment demands.

- IFS Business Analytics

Business Analytics provide users with a tool creating a wide range of reports in an Excel environment. Absolute ERP has an in depth knowledge of this tool including report creation, report distribution, creation of new data sources and general technical configuration of the tool.

- Management Reporting, KPI's and Scorecards

Dashboard style reports and Scorecards are essential for providing a common view of what is important to your organisation. This encourages a culture of collaboration and information appreciation. Enhance visibility into your organisational strategies, align actions with strategies and allow your users to track Scorecards and assigned KPI goals.

- Bespoke Reports Creation and SQL Reports

We can create bespoke Crystal Reports and SQL Reports. These reports are a predefined structure where continuity is essential. The majority of users are information consumers who want snapshots of business activities. We can help you to get the most from IFS by designing and creating reports that answer the most regularly asked questions (e.g. account statements, invoices, and regulatory reports) by replacing the standard IFS reports/forms with your own customised versions.

- IFS Query Tool

We can help a range of users – from experienced analysts to mainstream business users to quickly create queries and perform calculations without understanding complex database schemas or structured query language (SQL).
