Week 0 News and Notes!

For those of you that are new, in this section we'll recap what happened last week specifically, the misleading finals, the key injuries, the bad beats and the line moves. We'll include most of these recaps here, therefore you don't have to waste time reading about them in my game-by-game write-ups for the upcoming week. Without further adieu, here's a run down of what happened last week in the world of CFB.

Largest Favorite to Cover: UMass (-21) vs Duquesne, 63-15

Biggest Money line Upsets:

Hawaii +650 won 43-34 at Col St (+17)

Hawaii QB Cole McDonald passed for 418 yards and 3 TD's while adding 96 rushing yards and 2 more TD's in Hawaii's outright upset (+17, +650 ML) over Colorado St last Saturday!

Major Injuries/Suspensions

Iowa's projected starting OT's Tristam Wirfs and Alaric Jackson are suspended for the Northern Illinois game. The Hawkeyes already lost a pair of projected starters in the secondary this summer in Manny Rugamba and Brandon Snyder.

Michigan starting WR Tarik Black (foot) is out indefinitely.

Mississippi St QB Nick Fitzgerald has been suspended for the Bulldogs' opener vs Stephen F. Austin this week. Keytaon Thompson who started the bowl win over Louisville has been named the starter.

North Carolina has 11 players serving a suspension (anywhere from 1-4 games) this season due to the selling of merchandise. Three of them were in the mix to start including QB Chazz Surratt, DE Tomon Fox and DE Malik Carney.

Northwestern QB Clayton Thorson (knee) is questionable for the opener at Purdue on Thursday. Thorson had tore his ACL in the bowl game but if you've read the practice reports, it looks like Thorson is more probable than questionable.

Southern Miss QB Kwadra Griggs (suspension) is out indefinitely.

On Monday, UCLA announced six players would be suspended anywhere from 1-3 games. All of them were in the two-deep coming out of spring led by OL Boss Tagaloa and DL Osa Odighizuwa.

Wake Forest QB Kendall Hinton (suspension) will miss the first three games.

Wisconsin starting WR's Danny Davis (suspended) and Quintez Cephus (out indefinitely due to legal issues) will miss this week's game vs Western Kentucky. The Badgers also suffered a pair of injuries to projected starting DE's Garrett Rand and Isaiah Lowdermilk this summer.

Projected Season Win Totals

Using my power ratings as a guideline, we have developed a line on each game played this college football season. This line factors in the difference between the two teams' ratings while also taking into consideration where the game is played. After you have a line for each game, you can come up with a win percentage on the game. Usually 3-point favorites tend to win straight up between 55 and 60% of the time while 7-point favorites win straight up between 65 and 70% of the time.

Many "Joe Public" bettors make the mistake of computing a season win total just by counting wins and losses by who is favored in the game. While that method is a start, it is not the most accurate. When a team is favored by 3-points, they have around a 57% chance to win that game straight up. Therefore, instead of just marking down a full win for that team, you would reward that team with 0.57 of a win. On the other side, if a team is a 3-point underdog, instead of just marking down a full loss for that team, you would reward that team with 0.43 of a win. Then after you have done this for all 12 games, you add up all the decimals and that should be a more accurate season win total for each team.

Games in Rotation Order

HOME TEAM IN CAPS

Thursday, August 30th
Ucf 48 CONNECTICUT 24. UConn's defense only returns 2 starters after allowing 38 ppg a year ago. The Huskies are taking on a UCF offense that led the country last year averaging 48 ppg and returns QB McKenzie Milton who accounted for 4,650 total yards and 45 total TD's a year ago. Still the Knights lost their entire coaching staff to Nebraska and we're not huge fans of new head coach Josh Heupel whose Missouri offense last year was overrated due to weak competition. Pass.

PURDUE 27 Northwestern 26. Believe it or not, Northwestern comes in with the 2nd longest win streak at 8 games. While the Wildcats return 14 starters, they do lose their all-time leading rusher in Justin Jackson, whose 5,440 career yards is in the Top 10 all-time in NCAA history! It does look like Wildcat QB Clayton Thorson will play here after tearing his ACL in last year's bowl game. On the other side, Purdue will have an improved offense in year two under Jeff Brohm but their defense may take a step back. Note that Northwestern is 23-9 ATS as a road dog the last 10 years. Pass. MINNESOTA 31 New Mexico St 10. Horrible spot here for New Mexico St traveling across country on a short week after they were physically dominated by Wyoming last week (out-rushed 312-Negative 9). Keep in mind, New Mexico St got 93 of their 135 total yards on a garbage TD drive. We gave Minnesota -18 out on the Sunday Night Owl update and the line has moved nearly 3 points. However note that the Gophers are just 1-10 ATS as a double-digit favorite in their last 11 games. We lean with the UNDER here.

Wake Forest 31 TULANE 22. Wake Forest QB Kendall Hinton is suspended for the first 3 games of the season and the money has poured in on Tulane in this game all summer long. However, we actually lean with Wake Forest here. Dave Clawson is doing a tremendous job in Winston-Salem fresh off back-to-back bowl wins and the Demon Deacons return all 5 starters on the offensive line. On the other side, Tulane loses 3 starters on their defensive line and their top 2 tacklers at LB. This number is now too short especially considering WF has had all summer to prep for the option. Friday, August 31st

MICHIGAN ST 35 Utah St 12. We're actually disappointed these two teams are playing one another here as we think both are "buy" teams this season. Utah St returns 18 starters while Michigan St brings back 19. While Michigan St is 0-4 ATS as a 3-TD favorite, Utah St's blowout losses at Wisconsin (59-10, +27.5) and at Wake Forest (46-10, +13) last year give us some pause in this one. Pass.

Syracuse 34 WESTERN MICHIGAN 30. We expect both teams to be much improved this season after QB injuries derailed their season a year ago. At one point, Syracuse was 4-3 and off an upset of Clemson before dropping their last 5 games. Meanwhile, WMU was 4-2 with only losses to USC and Michigan St before finishing the season 6-6. This is the first time Syracuse is a road favorite since 2014 and Western Michigan HC Tim Lester was the Syracuse O.C. in 2014-15. Slight lean WMU. WISCONSIN 48 Western Kentucky 12. Wisconsin does not come into this game at 100% as starting WR's Danny Davis and Quintez Cephus will miss this game. Also the Badgers suffered a pair of injuries to projected starting DE's Garrett Rand and Isaiah Lowdermilk this summer. With that being said, Wisconsin has the best offensive line in the country (all 5 starters return) and should take advantage of a WKU defense that really slipped a year ago. We lean OVER.

† Colorado 37 Colorado St 27. Denver, CO. We're buying Colorado low in this one after the Buffaloes are coming off a disappointing 5-7 season in 2017. While the Buffs only return 10 starters, they should be improved over last season. One of their returning starters is QB Steven Montez who is a Top 25 QB nationally and Colorado should have a much improved defensive line. Last week the Rams lost outright as a 17-point favorite to Hawaii. At one point, Colorado St trailed 37-7. The bright spot was QB K.J. Carta-Samuels throwing for a school-record 537 yards and 5 TD's. Colorado H.C. Mike MacIntyre does value this series winning and covering each of the last 3. STANFORD 30 San Diego St 17. Stanford has revenge for a 20-17 loss (-8.5) last year at San Diego St. It was legit as Stanford was out-gained 353-254 but San Diego St was +3 TO's. Stanford will be better on offense this year thanks to improved QB play with KJ Costello and the return of RB Bryce Love but the Cardinal will be weaker on defense (lost top 3 players). On the other side, San Diego St loses RB Rashard Penny (2,248 rush yards). Yesterday, Stanford announced six key players would be out for this game including starting C Jesse Burkett and CB Alijah Holder and the Cardinal do have USC on deck. Slight lean on the Aztecs here. DUKE 31 Army 16. Duke has revenge for a 21-16 loss (-3) at Army a year ago. This will be the third straight season Duke has played Army (held the Knights to just 217 ypg) and with an entire off-season, the Blue Devils should be well versed in stopping the option. On the other side, Army is fresh off a 10-win season but is likely to take a step back this fall. We lean with the Blue Devils here.

Saturday, September 1st

2★ FAU (plus the points) OKLAHOMA 42 Florida Atlantic 25. FAU had 10 straight wins to close last season with an average cover by 15 ppg! The Owls have 15 returning starters including 10 on defense. On offense, RB Devin Singletary is one of the top 25 players in the country (32 rushing TD's in 2017). Meanwhile, Oklahoma will be better than people expect on offense (QB Murray, RB Rodney Anderson and WR Hollywood Brown). However, we should see a motivated Lane Kiffin here as you have to think Kiffin feels he should be the head coach at a place like Oklahoma making millions like Lincoln Riley. Here's his chance to make a statement

Houston 38 RICE 13. Houston crushed Rice 38-3 last year leading 38-0 at halftime and has now won and covered 4 straight in the series (avg win by 25 ppg). Last week in new head coach Mike Blomgren's first game, Rice had to rally from a 28-19 4Q deficit to beat Prairie View A&M as a 3-TD favorite. The Owls did amass 310 yards rushing led by Esupka (173). We're leaning with the UNDER.

OHIO ST 51 Oregon St 10. No Urban Meyer here for the Buckeyes (suspended first three games) and Ryan Day is the interim coach. Keep in mind, the Buckeyes have two experienced head coaches on staff in O.C. Kevin Wilson and D.C. Greg Schiano. While Ohio St loses all-time passing leader J.T. Barrett, Dwayne Haskins could actually give them improvement in their vertical pass game. On the other side, this is the first game for new Oregon St head coach Jonathan Smith. The Beavers along with Kansas are the worst Power 5 teams in the country this season. Last year the Beavers gave up 51 ppg on the road. It doesn't get any easier here.

PENN ST 38 Appalachian St 14. Penn St did lose Saquon Barkley to the NFL Draft but the Nittany Lions still have a Heisman contender in QB Trace McSorley. The bigger loss may have been O.C. Joe Moorhead leaving for Mississippi St. On the other side, the Mountaineers have done quite well vs Power 5 competition but do lose 4-year starting QB Taylor Lamb. We're passing NEBRASKA 41 Akron 17. Akron has dropped 24 straight road openers by 30 ppg The money has poured in on Nebraska all summer long in this game but yet the total hasn't moved much. That doesn't make a ton of sense as Nebraska is going very up-tempo this season under new head coach Scott Frost while the defense still has a major talent gap between the top-tier programs (see last year's defense in the final 3 games allowing 56 ppg). We like the OVER.

2★ UMass (plus the points) BOSTON COLLEGE 38 Massachusetts 24. Boston College is a preseason darling as they had the biggest season win total line move at South Point (opened 5.5, now 7). In our opinion, BC has gone from underrated to now overrated! Meanwhile, UMass has a game under belt advantage as they won Saturday 63-15 over Duquesne (covered spread by 27 points). UMass is not afraid of the big boys as the last two years vs Power 5 teams, they are 5-1 ATS. The average line in those games +26 with an average cover by 14 ppg! Keep in mind, the Minutemen nearly won outright at Tennessee and at Mississippi St last year and Boston College is 0-8 ATS in home openers.

ILLINOIS 37 Kent St 20. Kent St is moving to an up-tempo offense under new head coach Sean Lewis (Syracuse assistant) and the OVER has taken a lot of action in the market (opened 50.5, now 56). On the other side, Illinois started more freshman than any other team in the country last year and should be improved in 2018. The Illini are also moving to a more up-tempo offense. Tough laying more than 2 TD's with an Illinois team that comes in on a 10-game losing streak. Pass.

RUTGERS 34 Texas St 17. Rutgers will start true frosh Artur Sitkowski at QB. He gets to face a Texas St defense that ranked No. 127 against the pass a year ago. On the other side of the ball, Rutgers has 7 players suspended on defense due to a credit card scandal. That should allow for the Texas St offense to have some success. Lean OVER. Indiana 34 FIU 21. Indiana came-from-behind in both 2015 and 2016 vs FIU scoring the game's final 17 and 22 points in wins and covers. Last year's game was canceled due to Hurricane Irma. Both head coaches enter their second season but it was FIU HC Butch Davis who made the bigger splash in year one doubling FIU's win total from 4 to 8 while also signing the best recruiting class in school history this past February. On the other side, Indiana will start Peyton Ramsey at QB but RB Morgan Ellison is suspended for this game.

3★ (Northern Illinois plus the points) IOWA 27 Northern Illinois 23. The Hawkeyes have 4 starters suspended for this game including both of their offensive tackles. The Hawkeyes are notorious for struggling in openers including an outright loss to NIU in 2013. Meanwhile the Huskies played well vs similar style Boston College and San Diego St last year in the underdog role. NIU DE Sutton Smith 29.5 TFL's last year (most in the country) should take advantage and the Huskies return all 5 starters on the OL and all 4 starters on the DL. In the last 10 years, Northern Illinois is 41-19 ATS (68%) on the road while in the last 6 years, Iowa is a poor home favorite at just 12-22-1 ATS (35%). Finally NIU is on a 11-1 ATS run vs the Big Ten.

† 2★ Texas 38 Maryland 20. Landover, MD. This is a big revenge spot for Texas who lost outright at as an 18.5-point favorite in last year's opener. We'll chalk that up as a first game out-lier as after that, Texas was a Top 25 team going 8-3-1 ATS while nearly winning 9 or 10 games (4 losses by 5 points or less). On the other side, Maryland has been extremely poor vs ranked teams the last 3 years going 1-12 SU and 4-9 ATS outscored by an average of 30 ppg in those 13 games. This is NOT a true home game for Maryland as it will be played in Landover, MD (home of the Redskins). Therefore, there will probably be at least 10,000-15,000 Texas fans in stands. Finally, all the turmoil surrounding the Maryland program has to be a distraction.

Boise St 31 TROY 20. Last year Boise won 24-13 (-11.5) on the Smurf Turf. It's tough laying double-digits on the road in the heat and humidity of the South against a Troy team that is 21-5 the last two years. However, in the last 10 years, Boise St is 36-16 ATS (69%) as an away favorite and Troy loses their 4-year starting QB in Brandon Silvers and their 2nd-leading rusher in school history in Jordan Chunn.

Louisiana Tech 33 SOUTH ALABAMA 20. Louisiana Tech only led 17-16 last year before scoring the game's final 17 points in a 34-16 win. We like new South Alabama head coach Steve Campbell but think his Jaguars are a little out-classed here against a Louisiana Tech team that was better than their record indicated a year ago (3 losses by one point) and return a starting QB for the first time since 2010.

Marshall 27 MIAMI, OH 26. Marshall has won 9 of the last 10 meetings. Last year's loser on Miami, Oh (+2.5) on these pages set the tone for a disappointing 2017 campaign. It was an extremely tough loss considering Miami had a 415-259 yard edge as a dog but Marshall scored 3 long non-offensive TD's. We expect both teams to be play-on teams this season as Marshall returns 18 starters while Miami returns 16. This should be one of the more competitive week one games.

NORTH TEXAS 38 Smu 33. The home team is on a 8-1 SU run in the series and the Mean Green were a perfect 6-0 at home last year. Last year SMU took home a 54-32 win (-13.5) but the two teams both had 493 yards of total offense. North Texas is the more experienced team with 17 returning starters while the Ponies welcome in a new head coach in Sonny Dykes. Fireworks galore.

VANDERBILT 30 Middle Tennessee 24. These two schools are only 35 miles apart. Middle Tennessee QB Brent Stockstill was held to a season low 166 passing yards in last year's 28-6 loss to Vanderbilt at home. We had a star-rated play on Vanderbilt -3 on these pages and it was "Men against Boys". Now flash forward to a year later and Vanderbilt, an SEC school is laying a FG at home to a CUSA team. The Dores are on a 8-0 ATS run vs CUSA opponents the last 5 years and get another win and cover here. ARIZONA 34 Byu 20. We lean with Arizona here as the Kevin Sumlin era starts in Tucson against a BYU team that has faded under the direction of head coach Kalani Stake. We do prefer the UNDER as defenses figured out Khalil Tate at end of last season (only 118 yards rushing the last 3 games combined) Meanwhile, the Arizona defense should be much improved with 9 returning starters (best D in 5 years).

ARIZONA ST 37 Utsa 17. The Herm Edwards era begins in Tempe as Edwards returns after a decade long absence in the coaching rank and Herm hasn't coached in college since 1989. He inherits a talented Arizona St offense led by QB Manny Wilkins and WR N'Keal Harry. On the other side, UTSA is lightly experienced with only 10 returning starters this year and they lost star DE Marcus Davenport to the first round of the NFL draft. Slight lean on the home team here.

USC 41 Unlv 17. USC is replacing their starting QB, top rusher and top receiver for the first time since 1980. True Frosh J.T. Daniels will get the start at QB but the Trojans have Stanford and Texas on deck. USC key DL Porter Gustin could be out vs a UNLV rush offense that averaged 240 ypg last year. UNLV QB Armani Rogers is mobile, and could allow for the back door cover. Finally, Clay Helton notorious slow starter while UNLV is 21-8 ATS as a road dog since 2012.

UCLA 37 Cincinnati 24. This is the first game for UCLA new head coach Chip Kelly and it will take time to implement his offense. Practices are closed for UCLA and it will be interesting to see who starts the season at QB for the Bruins. On the other side, Cincinnati should be improved in year two under Like Fickell (signed best recruiting class out of all Group of 5 teams). Note earlier this week UCLA suspended 6 players who were all in the two-deep at end of spring.

† Washington 24 Auburn 23. Atlanta, GA. This will be Auburn's 3rd straight game in the same stadium and the Tigers will have the crowd edge here. That is probably worth 1.5-2 points in favor of the Tigers. However, by backing the Huskies, we have the better team and better coach. Washington has 17 returning starters from a 10-win team that was injury-ravaged. The Huskies have a Top 10 QB in Jake Browning, a Top 10 RB in Myles Gaskin, a Top 5 OT in Trey Adams and a Top 10 DT in Greg Gaines. Auburn is just 1-9 SU/ATS vs ranked teams away from home.

KENTUCKY 34 Central Michigan 16. Kentucky was 0-6 ATS as a favorite a year ago. It's tough laying a big number here with a Wildcats team that has a question mark at QB. However, Central Michigan is one of the least experienced teams in the country with 10 returning starters and the Chips were extremely fortunate to win 8 games a year ago (+4 close wins and were only favored in 3 games).

games a year ago (+4 close wins and were only favored in 3 games). † Texas Tech 35 Ole Miss 33. Houston, TX. Believe it or not, it is Ole Miss, not Texas Tech that has the better pass attack here. Rebels QB Jordan Ta'amu actually had better stats than Shea Patterson a year and WR AJ Brown is among the best in the country. Meanwhile, Texas Tech has a new QB, new RB and 5 of their top 6 WR's gone. However, the Red Raiders' defense was much improved last year (allowed 11 ppg less) and has 10 starters back this year. We're passing.

SOUTH CAROLINA 40 Coastal Carolina 15. Joe Moglia returns as head coach for CCU after missing all of last year due to medical issues. It's tough laying 4-TD's plus when you have a big game vs Georgia on deck, it's a Noon ET local start and the Gamecocks had to replace their field this week after it was tore up from a Jay-Z/Beyonce concert over the weekend. Also note that Coastal only lost by 1 point at SEC Arkansas last year. We like the big dog here.

† West Virginia 34 Tennessee 21. Charlotte, NC. West Virginia has a big edge at QB with Will Grier here who is the best pure passer in CFB this year. He will be throwing to one of the best sets of WR's in CFB. Meanwhile, the Vols are changing schemes on both sides of the ball and are inexperienced. Quite simply, this is a rebuilding project for new UT head coach Jeremy Pruitt. We lean with WV.

CALIFÓRNIA 34 North Carolina 24. Cal is one of the most improved teams in the country this year and last year was better than their 5-7 record indicated. They return 18 starters and are one of the most experienced teams in the country. On the other side, while improved this season, North Carolina has several players suspended for this game (see page 1). Keep in mind last year, in a horrible spot for Cal (traveling across country for a 9am PT kickoff), the Bears won 35-30 as 12.5-point underdogs. This year they win by more than a TD.

2★ WYOMING 24 Washington St 20. Wyoming played old school football last week in their 29-7 mauling of New Mexico St that wasn't as close as the final. The Cowboys had a 449-135 yard edge including a dominating 312-(-9) edge on the ground. Keep in mind, New Mexico St got 93 yards late on a garbage TD drive. Wyoming has 3-4 legit NFL caliber players on their defense led by DE Carl Granderson while Washington St is one of the least experienced teams in the country especially at the line of scrimmage. Wyoming is on a 9-3 ATS run as a home dog with 7 outright upsets while Washington St is 0-4 ATS in their last 4 openers under Mike Leach failing to cover the spread by a combined 85.5 points!!!

OREGON 51 Bowling Green 20. Expectations are high for Oregon this year under new head coach Mario Cristobal. Most of it is due to the return of QB Justin Herbert. Keep in mind, with Herbert last year (8 games), Oregon outscored their opponents 49-26. Without Herbert last year (5 games), Oregon was outscored by their opponents 34-15. On the other side, this looks like another tough season for the Falcons. Oregon can name their score here.

Old Dominion 31 LIBERTY 27. Welcome to the FBS Liberty. Their HC Turner Gill was previously a head coach at Buffalo and Kansas and last year the Flames beat Big 12 Baylor 48-45 as 30-point underdogs. Liberty does return 16 starters and should be playing in front of a fired up home crowd. On the other side, ODU should be much improved this season with 16 returning starters and QB Steven Williams is no longer a 17-year old true frosh. Lean on the home dog.

Michigan 23 NOTRE DAME 20. Since 1978, the underdog in the UM/ND series has gone 23-7-1 ATS with 17 outright upsets. The Michigan defense has a huge advantage over a ND offense that loses its top RB, top WR, top 2 OL in the NFL Draft and their OL coach (best assistant on team). Also ND QB Brandon Wimbush completed less than 50% of his passes a year ago (practice reports have not been good) and he will be going up against arguably best secondary in the country. Meanwhile, Ole Miss transfer Shea Patterson is just what Jim Harbaugh needed to take the next step. † Alabama 40 Louisville 17. Orlando, FL. This is the largest underdog role that Louisville has been in since 2000 and the Cards are 6-0 ATS as double-digit dogs since 2010. It's not often that you have a match-up edge with a 24-plus point underdog but Louisville could have improved pass attack with Jawon "Puma" Pass (6-4 230) and an elite WR corps vs an inexperienced Alabama secondary (lost top 6 players). Plus the loss of Lamar Jackson makes Louisville underrated. Note that the Cards were 5-12 ATS in Jackson's last 17 starts.

Navy 38 HAWAII 24. Last week the Warriors pulled a huge upset 43-34 as 17-point dogs at Colorado St. QB Cole McDonald led the way with 418 passing yards while adding 96 rushing yards. Navy head coach Ken Niumatalolo was Hawaii's QB from 1987-1989 so it will be a homecoming of sorts. We feel that Hawaii's home field edge is overrated as the Warriors are just 4-18-1 ATS in their last 23 home games. Sunday, September 2nd

Miami, Fl 24 Lsu 20. This year's Miami team has 14 returning starters and is about 3 points better than last year's team. On the other side, out of 65 Power 5 conference feams, LSU ranks dead last in returning experience (No. 129 in the country). This is the first time since 1974 that LSU doesn't return a back that rushed for a TD as they lose their best player in Derrius Guice. New OB transfer Joe Burrow doesn't move the needle much for us. Lean on the UNDER.

Monday, September 3rd FLORIDA ST 31 Virginia Tech 23. This is the most important conference game in Week 1. It is the first game for new FSU head coach Willie Taggart (from Oregon) and the Seminoles have a distinct advantage here with their experienced up-tempo offense vs an inexperienced Virginia Tech defense that is very thin in the secondary (lost 3 projected starters in the summer).

Week 1 Computer Projected Lines for Every CFB Game

For the past couple of seasons we have posted computer projected lines at pregame.com. Games where there was of difference of more than 3 points saw our computer lines actually beat the Vegas line at a 155-129-7 (55%) clip the last two years That's pretty solid and actually better than our own handicapping (much to our dismay). Keep in mind, these computer lines don't take into consideration off-the-field factors like revenge or years. This week the Wildcats are +1.5 at Purdue. flat spots. They are basically a power-rating number difference between the two teams that also takes into consideration the home field advantage.

Of the 4 games where our computer is off more than 3 points compared to the Vegas line (highlighted), our favorite team this week to back would be Louisville +24.5.

The Comp column is the computer projected line and the Diff column is the difference between the Vegas line and the Computer line. "+" numbers in the difference column say back the underdog. "-" numbers in the difference column say back the favorite. Let us know if you have questions.

- 1. Northwestern is 23-9 ATS as a road dog the last 10
- 2. Minnesota is on a 1-10 ATS run as a double-digit favorite. This week the Gophers are -20.5 at home vs New Mexico St.
- 3. Syracuse is a 5.5-point favorite at Western Michigan on Friday. It's the first time the Orange are a road favorite since 2014.
- 4. Wisconsin is just 1-5 ATS in their last 6 games as a 30-point or more favorite. This week the Badgers are 35.5-point favorites at home to WKU.
- 5. Lane Kiffin is 6-0 ATS as a double-digit dog in his career. This week FAU is +21 at Oklahoma.
- 6. UMass is 5-1 ATS vs Power 5 teams the last two years. The average line in those games +26 with an average cover by 14 ppg! This week the Minutemen are +18 at Boston College.
- 7. Boston College is 0-8 ATS in home openers. This week the Eagles are -18 at UMass.
- 8. In the last 10 years, Northern Illinois is 41-19 ATS (68%) in all their road games. This week the Huskies are +10.5 at Iowa.
- 9. Northern Illinois is on a 11-1 ATS run vs the Big Ten.
- 10. Maryland has been extremely poor vs ranked teams the last 3 years going 1-12 SU and 4-9 ATS. They have been outscored by an average of 30 ppg in those games. This week Maryland plays No. 23 Texas and the Terps are 13.5-point underdogs.
- 11. In the last 10 years, Boise St is 36-16 ATS (69%) as an away favorite. This week Boise is -10.5 at Troy.
- 12. Vanderbilt is on a 8-0 ATS run vs CUSA teams in the last 5 years. This week the Commodores are laying 3 points at home vs Middle Tennessee
- 13. Auburn is just 1-9 SU/ATS in their last 10 games away from home vs ranked teams. This week the Tigers are -1.5 vs No. 6 Washington in Atlanta.
- 14. Since 1978, the underdog in the UM/ND series has gone 23-7-1 ATS with 17 outright upsets.
- 15. Since 2006, Michigan is 0-16 SU/4-12 ATS on the road vs ranked teams. This week Michigan is +1 at No. 12 Notre Dame.
- 16. Louisville is a 24.5-point underdog to Alabama this week. That is the Cardinals' largest underdog since 2000 (+33.5 at #2 Florida St, lost 31-0).
- 17. Alabama head coach Nick Saban is a perfect 11-0 SU/9-1 ATS in season openers.
- 18. Hawaii's home field edge is overrated as the Warriors are just 4-18-1 ATS in their last 23 home games.
