Northwest Georgia area college and university undergraduate and graduate students with an interest in history and archaeology, are cordially invited to join us for an informal day of excavation and lab experience. Included will be an introduction to the history and archaeology of a site of this Creek Indian War (1813-15) frontier and militia fort. The site is owned by Gwinnett County, and leased to the Fort Daniel Foundation (FDF) for program and site development.

In addition to the archaeological site, the Foundation, in league with the Gwinnett Archaeological Research Society (GARS) maintains an on-site archaeology lab, small museum and meeting room.

Among the seven members of the Foundation and GARS who hold graduate degrees in archaeology or history, several will be on hand that day to welcome you along with the Site Archaeologist, Dr. Jim D'Angelo, and other members of FDF/GARS.

Musket balls, buttons, horse shoe nails, sherds of dining ware and brandy bottles, and even a Spanish coin are among the thousands of articles so far uncovered, so we expect to have great day. If you can't come the entire 5 hours, feel free to drop by and stay as long as you wish.

Free Pizza and beverages.
Admission Free
