Identity, Mission, Vision

Identity - Who We Are

We are a collaborative of learners and teachers,
Growing together in the skills and awareness needed
to live increasingly free and fruitful lives.

Our lives and our work spring from and return us to the Heart,
the Center of the human person,
Where Ultimate Reality lives and from which all creative action flows.

Mission – Our Purpose

Our mission is to empower incarcerated people, those at risk of incarceration or who were incarcerated, their families, and others seeking freedom from destructive habits and patterns, both inside and outside of correctional facilities, to live increasingly free and fruitful lives.

Vision

PERSONAL

We envision a time when those released from jails and prisons are recognized as resources for our communities and carriers of wisdom. We see our program participants as the next generation of leaders, specially equipped to lead us in responding to our needs for safety, justice, peace, compassion, and forgiveness.

COMMUNITY

We envision Heart-to-Heart communities in a growing number of jails and prisons and in a growing number of communities that welcome those released.

SOCIETAL

We envision a growing partnership with correctional facilities, the justice system, institutions of higher education and communities of faith, sparking a transformative impact in each of these systems.
