Attorney Sarah C. Stewart focuses her estate planning practice on helping families understand and plan for their specific goals throughout their lifetimes.

Sarah's knowledge and expertise allows her to help parents navigate the confusing financial and estate planning landscape to ensure your family is protected and cared for when you cannot care for them yourself.

She has helped families protect their vulnerable loved ones, leave plans for their estates after their deaths, and grieve the deaths of their loved ones exclusively for nearly a decade.

Prior to law school, Sarah attended Oklahoma State University in Stillwater, Oklahoma and Putnam City High School in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. She is truly "made in Oklahoma" and is uniquely qualified to understand the needs and challenges of Oklahoma families.

Sarah practices Brazilian Jiu Jitsu at Redline Academy in Edmond, Oklahoma with her limited free time.

She comes from a family with a public service background, and believes strongly in fighting for the rights of every family, of every income level, in Oklahoma.

The apples of her eye are her two young, energetic, sons and two mostly well-behaved dogs.
