To answer your question:

Yes, that means you can get a cheeseburger and a hot dog for $8.49, or for that matter, two cheeseburgers, if that's how you roll.

We won't judge you, other than to think, geez, that guy is a shrewd financial wizard who just saved himself three and a half bucks.

On the other hand, if you pick two orders of sweet potato fries, we might judge you more harshly.

It is your money though. Spend it how you want.

BUCK BUCK BRINNER CHAMPIONS CHALLENGE RULES

RULE #1:

THE GOAT IS INFALLIBLE: Much like The Pope, The Goat is infallible. The decisions and judgments of the management of Wild Goats Café are final.

RULE #2:

YOU MUST FINISH FOR IT TO COUNT: The challenge is to eat all the food, not just order it. This means no sharing or hiding that last little bit of your brinner.

RULE #3:

ONE SITTING: You have from 3pm until 9pm to compete. Final orders must be placed by 8:30. If you leave the building for any reason you are deemed to be finished.

RULE #4:

THERE CAN BE ONLY ONE: At any given time there can be only one reigning champion. This means there are no ties. To become champion you must eat MORE than the reigning champion. If at any given time there are 2 competitors attempting to dethrone the champion at the same time, they are considered to be competing “heads up.” In heads up competition, if one competitor finishes while another competitor has ordered at least an equal number of items, the second competitor will be allowed up to 30 minutes to finish his items and if he chooses, order more. If 2 competitors finish having eaten the same number of items while competing heads up, they will be judged on the items they ate. Hash browns are valued highest, then the combined total of toast, pancakes and French toast, then eggs, then sausage, and finally bacon.

RULE #5:

YOU ONLY GET ON THE PLAQUE ONCE: The Goat has to pay for each engraving plate. If you successfully complete the challenge more than once, good for you, but we won't add your name to the plaque again, unless you wish to foot the bill for the engraving.

RULE #6:

CHAMPION'S FREE FOOD: The reigning champion eats for free from the BUCK BUCK menu (for up to one year) on Wednesday after 3:00pm. This does not include beverages or any other menu item.

42% Off Fridays

All Food

42%

Off

“Why 42% Off?” You ask

- Because we can't just give it away
- Because 50% off would be crazy
- Because Douglas Adams told us that 42 was the answer
- Because we wanted to put the butts in the buckets
- Because, if it was free, you might forget to tip and your server would be sad
- Because we've got bills to pay
- Because the “F” sound in forty-two sounds nice with the “F” sound in Friday
- Because 41% didn't seem like enough and 43% was obviously too much
