Oh when I hear the strains of that sweet Alekoki,
 And stealing from a far-off guitar, Penei No,
 When Lili'u E makes you sway in the moonlight,
 I know the reasons why fair Hawai'i haunts me so.

The lovely blue of sky and the sapphire ocean,
 The flashing white of clouds and the waves foaming crest,
 The many shades of green from the plains to the mountains,
 With all the brightest hues of the rainbow are blest.

I hear the swish of rain as it sweeps down the valleys,
 I hear the sound of wind as it sighs through the trees,
 I hear the crash of waves on the rocks and the beaches,
 I hear the hissing surf and the boom of the sea.

We love to dance and sing of the charms of Hawai'i
 And from a joyful heart sing aloha to you;
 In every note we'll tell of the spell of our islands,
 For then we'll know that you'll be in love with them, too.
 For then we'll know that you'll be in love with them, too.
