An active autumn

East Haddam celebrates fall with event-packed weekend Oct. 5–7
By David Holahan

The East Haddam Fall Celebration Weekend, October 5–7, is jam-packed with activities, from a folk festival to wine tastings, trolley tours, a bonfire and a behind-the-scenes peek at the legendary Goodspeed Opera House.

There even will be an appearance by famous therian William Gillette (aka Sherlock Holmes) and his wife — portrayed by actors Harold and Theodora Niver — at Gillette's spectacular castle high above the Connecticut River.

Celebrants can arrive the old-fashioned way — on the Essex Steam Train and then take a trolley ride tour from Goodspeed Station in Haddam across the bridge and throughout East Haddam, with stops at points of interest such as Staehly Farm & Winery and the East Haddam Historical Society & Museum.

The weekend kicks off with the Folkage Folkl Festival, which runs Friday from noon to 6. The festival, day, October 5, from 6 to 10 p.m.

EDC mulls Town Street business district
By David Holahan

At its Thursday, September 6, meeting, the East Haddam Economic Development Commission (EDC) discussed the possibility of establishing a business district along both sides of Town Street, south of Sanibel Market to River Road. The stretch is currently zoned for residential use but also includes a number of nonresidential entities such as the East Haddam Historical Society and Wolf's Den Family Campground.

While the EDC took no position on the zone change, commission chairman Robert Casner pointed out that the towns Plan of Conservation & Economic Development calls for increasing industrial and commercial space in East Haddam to retain existing businesses as well as attract new ones. The new zone, if formally proposed and approved, would allow for the establishment of commercial offices and retail businesses as permitted uses.

"We will propose that a joint subcommittee be set up with members from both the EDC and Planning & Zoning to look into the possibility of a new business district," Casner said, adding, "We have to be careful about what may be proposed because this is a mixed-use area now." Editor's note: Casner is a member of the board of the East Haddam News.

In other business, the EDC also considered a zone change proposal brought by Shagbark Lumber & Farm

Addiction support group in danger of shutting down

Staff report

A monthly support group that helps local families cope with the disease of drug addiction may have to shut down if funds are not found to keep it going.

The Hope and Support Group, which meets each month in East Haddam, is coordinated by TriCircle, Inc., a Connecticut-based nonprofit organization supporting local families coping with the disease of drug addiction. The support group had been operating under an East Haddam Youth & Family Services grant, but after that ran out in April, TriCircle continued the meetings using contributions from a few committed private donors. Now those contributions are close to exhaustion.

Through local hope and support groups, the organization has been reaching the local families and their loved ones coping with the disease. The organization also provides tools and support to prevent backsliding, which is common in the current system of addiction recovery. The support groups, free to attendees, have been co-facilitated by a licensed professional and a paraprofessional with lived experiences.

“We understand the disease of addiction and self-care. Those striving to help their loved ones need their own understanding of the disease of addiction and self-care. Some have stated that they deal with so much on a monthly basis, meeting only once a month is too infrequent,” said Gopoian.

The group’s last meeting in East Haddam was August 29. “If we can find funding or another donor, we can continue our meetings here in East Haddam without missing a beat,” said Gopoian. If funds aren’t secured by September 26, the date of the next Hope & Support Group meeting, then October will be the last meeting in East Haddam. One way or the other, TCI will update the community about the outcome on its Facebook page and on the web at www.tricircleinc.com.

Here in East Haddam, TriCircle currently has no fundraisers planned, but the organization will have a table at the upcoming Fall Folijagle Fest in Hadlyme on October 6 and 7. Contact Gopoian at ana@tricircleinc.com for information, or for funding suggestions and opportunities.

TriCircle’s next fundraiser, a spaghetti and meatball dinner, is Monday, September 10, from 5 to 9 p.m. at Westbrook Elks Lodge 1784, 142 Seaside Ave., Westbrook. For tickets or more information, call Alfred D’Armon at 860-306-9417. This event’s proceeds and raffle will help to fund the newest Hope & Support Group starting Monday, September 17, in Old Saybrook.

TriCircle also hosts monthly setbacks in Wallingford at Center Street Lunchonette, where all profits go toward the tools needed in all of the organization’s hope and support groups in Connecticut.

2018 ELECTIONS

Attention 2018 candidates: East Haddam News wants your views

Dear Candidates,

The East Haddam News is offering 600 words to you to communicate to our readers your views and, if elected, your priorities in Hartford. Among the issues of local concern are how will you address the state’s financial crisis and how will that approach affect state funding to town government and schools. East Haddam is looking to increase its share of state tourism and is planning to make its downtown by the river more appealing. What can the state do to help, if anything? The question of what the state will do, and when, to the swing bridge is another concern in town.

Please send us your copy by September 28 and they will run in the October 11 issue.

Adult education classes

Adult education offers free classes for East Haddam and Moodus residents ready to earn their high school diploma. Three high school completion options are available, including online classes, GED, and the National External Diploma Program, an individualized, self-paced program without classroom instruction.

English classes for non-English speaking residents are available for all proficiency levels. Enrollment is ongoing and there is never a charge for East Haddam and Moodus residents. Day and evening classes are available in Old Saybrook. Call adult education for more information at 860-343-6044.

Volunteers sought for stewardship at Chapal Farm Patrell Parcel

The East Haddam Conservation Commission is sponsoring a Stewardship Saturday on September 22 from 9 a.m. to noon at the Chapal Farm Patrell Parcel on Baker Lane in the southeastern section of East Haddam. Volunteers are needed. A cookout lunch will be provided. Please come see this beautiful preserve and help with the volunteer work required to maintain the trails on this town-owned open space. This property is planned to be the first wheelchair accessible open space in East Haddam.

Baker Lane is off Route 156 and Route 82 and near the intersection of Route 156 and Route 82. If you can, please bring tools such as loppers and rakes. If you have no tools, the Conservation Commission will provide them. There is no rain date. For more information, please contact Todd Gelston at 860-754-4548 or tgelston@comcast.net. Please RSVP to Todd also.

Endorsement for Theresa Govert

When Theresa Govert decided to run for state representative for the 34th District, which represents East Haddam, East Hampton, and Colchester, my mother Joanne Rocznia was one of the first people she called. My mom’s response was, “finally,” and immediately went to work to get Theresa’s campaign off the ground. My mother would be writing this herself, but she passed away suddenly in late June, so I am stepping in for her. My mother believed in Theresa because of her strong sense of community, volunteerism, honesty, kindness, integrity, and getting-things-done attitude. Theresa has dedicated herself to doing for others, having served in the Peace Corps and since then being involved in numerous organizations and activities. She stands up for others when they can’t do so for themselves. She will not only serve and help with the volunteer work required to maintain the trails on this town-owned open space. This property is planned to be the first wheelchair accessible open space in East Haddam.

Letters to the Editor

The East Haddam News publishes, at its discretion, letters to the editor on topics of local interest from a broad spectrum of viewpoints. Their opinions reflect the views of the writers, not that of this newspaper. Letters may be edited for grammar. They should be 300 words or fewer. To be considered for publication they must include the author’s name, address and daytime phone number. Frequency of submissions from a single writer or group will be a factor in deciding whether to publish a letter.

Candidate endorsements

The East Haddam News accepts letters to the editor endorsing candidates for town office and will publish them as space allows. These are subject to existing letter policy. All letters will be fact-checked. Endorsement letters will not be published in our final issue before the election (Thursday, November 1).

Volunteer firefighter terminated after crash, second arrest

By Danielle Faipler

An East Haddam volunteer firefighter on probation with the fire department from a previous arrest was rearrested September 2 after allegedly driving into a stone wall on North Moodus Road early that Sunday morning.

Police said Jedidiah Felciano, 21, of Banner Road, was travelling northbound on North Moodus Road when he crashed into a stone wall next to the Saint Bridget of Kildare Cemetery.

Troop K arrested him for possession of less than half an ounce of cannabis, operation of a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol, and making an improper turn.

"It was out of character for him. We cannot tolerate that sort of behavior, and it reflects poorly on the department," said East Haddam Fire Department Chief Brian Auld during a phone interview. Since Sunday’s incident, Felciano has been terminated from the department.

Felciano, who was a lieutenant at the East Haddam Fire Department, was released on a $500 non-surety bond, and is scheduled to be arraigned at Connecticut Superior Court in Middletown Tuesday, September 18, at 10 a.m.

Felciano was previously arrested March 24 and was charged with reckless driving, possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of a controlled substance, and illegal possession of a weapon in a motor vehicle.

According to the Troop K police report, troopers conducted a search and found brass knuckles and cocaine.

The next court date for the March arrest is slated for June 19, 2019, at Connecticut Superior Court in Middletown.

The case file for the March arrest is statutorily sealed, so court officials cannot comment on whether the September arrest will affect the disposition of that case, said the Superior Court clerk in Middletown.

Felciano was sworn in as one of the department’s volunteer lieutenants in late February and also received the department’s Firefighter of the Year award. Prior to being elected as an officer, he was an assistant advisor to the junior department and Rope Rescue Team.

East Hampton man arrested in connection with stolen-car incident

Staff report

Police arrested an East Hampton man Thursday, August 30, in connection with a car that had been reported stolen from an East Haddam child-care facility earlier that day.

East Haddam police investigated a complaint of a stolen motor vehicle at Moodus KinderCare on Leesville Road on August 30 at about 9:51 a.m. Police said the keys had been left in the car.

Corporal Karl Karabeinikoff began an investigation, which later that day led to the location of the car and to the arrest of a suspect in the incident, 35-year-old Michael Blancato of Colchester Avenue, East Hampton.

Blancato was taken to Troop K in Colchester for processing. He was charged with 2nd-degree criminal trover.

He was released on a $500 non-surety bond and was scheduled to appear Tuesday, September 11, in Middletown Superior Court.

Police investigating reports of items stolen from vehicles

East Haddam police are investigating several larcenies from motor vehicles throughout the town that occurred during the overnight hours of Saturday, August 25.

Police would like to remind everyone to always remove valuables and keys from parked vehicles and to keep cars locked.

Those who see anything suspicious are asked to contact police immediately at 860-465-5400. Those with questions regarding these investigations can call Officer Jeff Rhoades at 860-891-8200.

Land trust seeks public comment on accreditation

A group of highly motivated volunteers worked diligently over the last year to guide East Haddam Land Trust (EHLT) through accreditation by the Land Trust Alliance, a national quality standards organization.

The accreditation process requires internal review of all practices, procedures, and policies related to land acquisition, land stewardship, finances, ethics, fundraising, recordkeeping, and board recruitment, responsibilities and training. EHLT’s accreditation committee looked at all these practices and presented updated policies and practices for approval by the board of directors.

This long process is nearing its final stages. One of the remaining requirements is a public comment period where citizens have the opportunity to speak about EHLT to the Land Trust Accreditation Commission, the group handling accreditations for the Land Trust Alliance.

The commission accepts signed, written comments about how the East Haddam Land Trust complies with national quality standards (visit the standards link at http://www.landtrust accreditation.org/help-and-resources/indicator-practices).

Submit comments online at www.landtrust accreditation.org, email to info@landtrustaccreditation.org, or fax or mail to the Land Trust Accreditation Commission, Attn: Public Comments: (fax) 518-587-3183; (mail) 36 Phila Street, Suite 2, Saratoga Springs, NY 12866.

The commission prefers to receive comments by October 28.

The accreditation application process has already made EHLT a stronger land conservation organization. EHLT’s directors believe that earning accreditation will better situate the land trust for preservation projects and fundraising opportunities.

Visit www.ehlt.org for more on the Preserve the Miller Farm Campaign and the 500+ acres of East Haddam land the land trust currently preserves for public benefit.

Cat Tales holds fundraisers

Cat Tales, a Middletown animal-rescue organization, is holding two upcoming fundraising events.

On Saturday, September 22, “An Evening With Spirit” will take place at The Galley, 141 New London Turnpike, Glastonbury, from 6 to 10 p.m. Have a fun and spiritual night out with psychic medium Kim Gedney. Tickets are $35 each; call Rhonda at 860-558-2079. Limited seating available.

More details at attalect.org/events/360/an-evening-with-spirit.

On Wednesday, October 3, Cat Tales will host Paint Night with Pam’s Picassos at the Baci Grill, 134 Berlin Rd., Cromwell. The evening of creativity and fun goes from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The $40 event fee includes supplies and instructor guide. A raffle will also take place for a mystery basket worth $250. Commemorative tile sales to benefit scholarship fund

The East Haddam Community Lions is offering a unique opportunity for alumni to commemorate their association with their alma mater. These tiles will be laser-etched with the name and class year of the graduate, now converted to the new municipal offices.

Each tile will be laser-engraved with the name and class year. The number of lines of text is limited to three (including class year), with a maximum of 23 characters per line (12 characters per line for the smaller tile). All monies beyond direct expenses for materials will go into the Community Lions High School Scholarship Fund. Every year the Lions award two scholarships for East Haddam high school graduates who have demonstrated both academic achievement and a commitment to community service during their school tenure.

The larger tiles are $100; the smaller ones are $75. For more information and an order form, go to www.echcl.org or call John at 860-873-8933.

GRACE AND TRUTH BIBLE CHAPEL
- “Rearranging deck chairs on the Titanic” is an expression we use to convey the tragedy of someone caught up in trivial affairs in the face of imminent disaster. How tragic, when someone spends their earthly existence consumed with the affairs of this world. Then, in a moment of time, they leave this world without certainty of their eternal destiny.
- “Forever” will be here shortly. Are you prepared for eternity? A safe, secure and blessed eternity awaits all those who place their faith and trust in Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior.
- Just as it is appointed for man to die once, and after that comes judgment.

EDC discusses creating business district along south Town Street

Supplies for its property on Mount Parnassus Road. The presentation by Shagbark owner Fred Hunt and controller Julia Leonardo included extending an existing Industrial General-2 (IG-2) zone into a residential parcel it owns along Mount Parnassus Road adjacent to their current retail business. Also proposed was a new IG zone—an IG-3A zone that would incorporate various uses of IG-2 and IG-3 zones, such as commercial storage, dance studio, health club, light industrial, and sales and repair of industrial machinery. A 10,000-square-foot building for commercial rentals is envisioned for this new zone, according to the proposal. The Shagbark property is traversed by an Eversource right-of-way for power lines.

After listening to the presentation, the six EDC members unanimously voted to submit the request to the town Planning and Zoning Commission.

First Selectman Emmett Lyman gave an update on the environmental assessment of the former town offices property in East Haddam Village by Eagle Environmental, Inc. “I am optimistic about what we’re going to find — from what I have seen so far, it is less than I expected.” He added that an anticipated cost of $400,000, estimated years ago for the clean-up of the site, was likely too high. “My hope at this point is it will come in well below that,” he said. “We have some more work to do, but we’re real close.” A full report from Eagle is expected in less than a month, he said.

Lyman also said that two parties already have expressed an interest in the property, including an individual who is envisioning establishing a brewery in the former town offices.

Lyman also expressed optimism that an $18.2 million federal grant applied for jointly by East Haddam and Haddam for a pedestrian and bicycle access across the Connecticut River Swing Bridge would come through. The grant was submitted in July. He said repairs to the bridge by the state are scheduled for 2021.

EDC board member Suzan Smith gave a presentation on the upcoming East Haddam Fall Celebration Weekend on October 6 and 7. The commission approved spending $1,500 for marketing the annual event. Smith said that Julia Balloir LLC is implementing the marketing effort and is contributing in-kind services. Casner praised Balloir for her firm’s support as well as the contributions of the East Haddam Business Association to the third annual event.

In other business, the EDC established a sub-committee to look into whether the town should continue its affiliation with the Chatham Health District for conducting health inspections, or whether it should consider signing on with another district. Chatham no longer has an inspector assigned specifically to East Haddam since the most recent one resigned in June. Casner said, “Services from Chatham Health have declined greatly, and the costs have continued as if we were receiving full services.” In other business, EDC accepted with regret the resignation of commission member Kevin Stashly, who was praised for his service.
