Since 1927 Gallagher has specialized in serving ministries – places of worship, schools, social service agencies and other activities that the faith-based community supports. Evolving over time from traditional property, casualty insurance and benefits as brokers and consultants to today where captives, alternative risk financing and a compendium of services enables Gallagher’s Religious Practice to be a comprehensive partner and trusted advisor, we are proud of our legacy yet driven by the call to serve.

Today we have more than 27,000 employees around the world and are blessed to work with more than 24,000 nonprofits through our many divisions. We are the leading provider in this sector, accomplished by a dedicated leadership team and technology that marshals our talent and intellectual capital in offices all over the world in efficient, informative and empowering ways internally - all to benefit the sector and those we serve. From sharing best practices to collaborating on think tanks and innovative ideas to tackling the challenges of threats to religious freedom and belief systems, our Religious Practice is a powerful capability and discipline that can be accessed by all our clients efficiently and economically through our network of service providers and brokers.
