A Note from Rick: Hope everyone had a blessed and happy Thanksgiving with friends and family like we did. Hard to believe it's December already, but I guess time flies when you're having fun. The thing that stood out to me on Tuesday was the hay sale. I haven't talked about that for a while and we're definitely into the heart of the season for buyers and sellers of hay and straw. We had 20 loads of hay and the top 15 loads brought from $230 to $340 per ton. These prices are not coming as a big surprise to most people as they've been close to this price all summer but as we're getting more good hay in now. I was a little surprised that prices seem to be getting stronger. I guess we'll see how long it lasts, but for the time being these prices are what we have to work with. Calf prices remained stronger, while there was very little change in the rest of our markets on Tuesday. Looking forward to the Dutch Cross Classic as well as the Miller Yoder Christmas sale coming up this month in the horse arena. Hope to see you at TLA!
