

Core Values Worth Knowing

There is a growing disconnect between the real world and the perceived world of 21st Century boys. The following are Core Values that have withstood the test of time that every young man should become familiar with:

The importance of attaining a quality education The importance of family and true friends.

The importance of a strong work ethic. The importance of treating women with respect and dignity.

The importance of delaying immediate gratification/ begin to plan for the future.

The importance of respecting adults and authority.

The importance of having a strong personal spiritual base.

The importance of looking and acting like you are "About Something"

The importance of learning to work with both your hands and your mind.

The importance of networking in the "at large" community.

The importance of joining an organization or sports team (no man is an island).

The importance of maintaining your poise while under pressure.

The importance of saving for a rainy day.

The importance of always striving for excellence in everything that you do.

The importance of being physically fit.

The importance of pursuing self actualization (Maslow's Theory).

The importance of freeing your mind from hatred.

The importance of giving more than you receive and to always help others.

The importance of thinking with a positive outlook.

The importance of fearing/respecting someone or something.

The importance of setting personal goals.

The importance of being humble and to walk softly but, carry a big stick...

The importance of developing your personal man-tra/vision.

The importance of reading and listening between the lines.

The importance of moving from poverty thinking to middle class thinking.

The importance of being well read and informed.

The importance of being twice as good and twice as prepared as your competition.

The importance of developing self discipline.

The importance of understanding and embracing technology.

The importance of maintaining balance in your life.

