3. The Professor

3.8) Please provide any additional comments you would like to convey about the professor's teaching:

- After transferring from a different school, Professor Scauso was the first face I saw at Quinnipiac. He eased my nerves tremendously with his kindness and positivity, and I was beyond excited to go to every one of his classes after that. He was clear in his instructions, always made sure every student completely understood the material, and never made a student self-conscious about their questions. He kept the class entertained with humor, and was kind beyond belief to everyone. Professor Scauso gave corrections to his students in a way that helped us instead of hurting our confidence, and he was always concerned with our mental well-being. He was realistic with his assignments and due dates. He also made sure to teach his students from a completely non-biased perspective. It was clear from the first day of class that he genuinely cared about every one of his students, and he personally made sure we all succeeded in his class. He also made himself easily accessible outside of class time. A few times throughout the course, he mentioned that his accent may possibly be a bit hard to understand, but I didn't notice it except with a few specific words and names. Truthfully, Professor Scauso may be the best professor I have ever had. There is absolutely nothing about his teaching that I would recommend he change (some students believed he was too fast, but I personally disagree.) I wish there was a way for him to be the professor in every single class I take at QU.
- Awesome I love professor Scauso!!
- None
- One of the best professors I will ever had, not only is each class an engaging lecture/debate but his attitude for every class is what makes me want to take any class he teaches.
- Professor Scauso is a great professor, always making sure if the students follow the class and understand the new themes or theories. He is always available to answer questions and clear things up.
- Professor Scauso is an excellent professor and always ensures that students understand the material and are participating in class.
- Professor Scauso is hands down one of the best professors I have had. He genuinely cares about his students and them doing well in his class.
- Strength comes from the professor's patience and ability to explain multiple times different approaches in international politics
- The professor teaches material well and is always available to help and reply to emails quickly.

4. Class Materials

4.3) Please provide any additional comments you would like to convey relevant to class materials:

- I feel challenged in my work but that I am also becoming a better political thinker/writer through the quizzes and final paper assignment.
- I thought the textbook really added to the class and helped me understand the theories more.
- N/A

- The class lectures were very clear and its delivery was very engaging, allowing for all assignments, quizzes and projects to be easily understood.
- The quizzes are short but focus on specific things where we need to understand the course to be able to answer them. There is also extra credit at the end of the quizzes to have the best grade possible. The only assignments we have, other than the final paper and presentation, are the notes and secret phrases, forcing us to pay attention in class and not miss any important information. It also helps us having good grades easily.
- The textbook is a little confusing and would have been hard to understand without the class lessons.

5. The Course Overall

5.3) Please discuss any and all strengths and weaknesses related to this course:

- Grades, learning objectives, course material, exams, etc. were all clear and accessible. The professor was available to answer any questions or concerns and took our feelings into account.
- I absolutely adored this course. It helped me make the decision of taking political science as my major.
- I found this course to be the most successful of all my classes this semester. I found myself to be not only extremely found of the class content but the structure of the class. A student's class environment plays a key role in learning, the structure of this course allowed for very engaging, enthusiastic learning. I do not have any weakness when thinking back on this course.
