

Rule 4. C. US XO units (Armor and Mechanized Infantry Companies)

U.S. executive officers (XO) are an important asset in company level operations. As such Company teams often split basically into two units, one commanded by the company commander (usually the larger unit) and the XO. XOs have 1 OP point available each Allocate Op Points phase with the following restrictions:

1. Units must be attached to the XO prior to the XO being able to allocate OP points.
2. Units must be visible to the XO to be allocated OP Points.
3. XO units must remain within 4 hexes of the Company HQ unit to issue commands.
4. XO units do not have to be visible to Company HQ unit to issue commands.
5. Logpac logistical resupply units may stack with the XO unit to conduct resupply operations at company level.
