

PLAYERS SHOWCASE SERIES

presented by The Baseball Warehouse

You have been invited to attend the Playrs Showcase Series events in partnership with The Baseball Warehouse on June 30, 2021 and August 25, 2021 in Baltimore, MD.

The Playrs Showcase Series is an emerging series of instructional showcase events around the country that offers mentorship opportunities, involvement of MLB players and college coaches, top level data capturing, content development for participant media exposure, a post event improvement plan and special offers related to skill development, nutrition, wellness, recruiting, social media and recruiting videos, and much, much more at an affordable price!

The Playrs Showcase Series is for amateur baseball players to receive developmental showcase instruction and measure performance that can help promote exposure to travel team coaches, collegiate recruiters and MLB scouts.

The Playrs Showcase Series has also partnered with leaders in the baseball technology and analysis space to deliver a first class in-event and post-event experience. Participants will receive actionable data and instruction from their event performance, captured by industry-leading technologies, so they can elevate their game.

As part of your participation fee to the event, you will instantly upgrade your player development by receiving your very own Blast Motion swing analyzer, a month of Blast Motion premium services, and a post event Blast Motion player assessment report, complimentary. Blast Motion is trusted by many MLB, college and baseball organizations around the world.

Due to Covid-19 protocols, we will only be able to host limited attendees (Ages 14-18). Thus, spots are limited and you will be informed of your exact times as we get closer to the event.

The event price is $350 which includes your Blast Motion swing analyzer, assessment report, and premium services subscription over a $150 value.
