RE: REFERENCE

To whom it may concern,

Malaika Honey has been working in the beekeeping sector since late 2005. We work with rural farmers with the mission to alleviate poverty through beekeeping research, development and trade.

We have known John Laurino of Unit Enterprises, Sao Paulo Brazil since our inception and relied on him as an industry professional for advise many times throughout the years.

During our interaction we have found him to be honest and encouraging of our development work and very helpful with honey industry advise. For this we thank him and recommend him as being someone who is consistently professional and of good nature from our experience.

Please do not hesitate to conatc me for any further inquiries.

Yours sincerely

Simon Turner
