

Name: _____

LANGUAGE (correct this sentence)

kim dont no how to play the star spangled banner yet _____

MATH

At the store, 6 melons cost $3.60, and 9 eggplants cost $5.85. Which costs more, 1 melon or 1 eggplant, and by how much?

SCIENCE

How are reptiles and amphibians different? How are they similar?

GEOGRAPHY

What is the most populated city in Canada?

DID YOU KNOW?

Johannes Gutenberg invented the first printing press around 1440. People were writing books by hand before that! Write about your favorite book.

Name: _____

LANGUAGE (correct this sentence)

why doesnt you come over four some homemade spaghetti asked colleen

MATH

If the scale on a map shows that 1 cm = 225 miles and it is 45 centimeters to New York, how many miles is it to New York?

SCIENCE

Put the following steps of the scientific method in order: draw conclusions, form a hypothesis, define problem, collect data, and do an experiment.

GEOGRAPHY

In what country is the Taj Mahal located?

DID YOU KNOW?

Animals are called consumers because they eat food to get energy and nutrients. Describe how the word consumer, as an eater, and consumer, as a buyer, are similar.