Expert Bio

I always enjoyed getting in touch with other cultures and extremely interested in foreign habits. After graduating in Cultural Tourism Studies, I took my MA in International Politics and started to work in a legal bureau; but the love for travelling was still strong and I continued to work as a second career in this sector and also to travel during all of my time off, always self-planning and also planning trips tailored to my friends.

My Honeymoon ? Exactly self made... »USA on my own ! «

I think that every journey has to reflect more closely the spirit of traveller, the passions, needs and desires, cultural interests and culinary preferences and I like so much to construct a made-to-measure trip for everyone who turn to me, just like a tailor who takes the measures to make a perfect dress for his clients.

My skills, besides my academic path and work experiences as touristic guide, come from the advices of various people I meet during my days, and I utilise them to create for everyone an unique travel experience, with a particular look for the unexplored and unknown destinations.

The most rewarding part of working in the travel industry is helping others fulfill their travel dreams. I would love to assist you in planning an experience of a lifetime.....a presto !
