

2018-2019 Male Involvement Awards

Male Involvement Awards

Studies show that students perform better when both male and female role models are involved in their education. Male involvement in PTA brings a different perspective, passion and set of skills to the school. This award is aimed to recognize the increased efforts and accomplishments of male involvement in the PTA.

Individual Male Involvement Award: Presented to male volunteers; One elementary, middle and high school winner will be chosen in this category.

Describe the nominee's PTA service for this year, citing specific examples. You may refer to the nominee by name, but do not mention your school's name. Each nominee should uphold the PTA objectives and standards while supporting involvement from students, parents and teachers in his/her school's PTA program.

Group Male Involvement Award: Presented to a group of male volunteers; One elementary, middle and high school winner will be awarded in this category.

This award recognizes the accomplishments of a group of males at a local PTA unit that have done an outstanding job to benefit their students, staff, administration and community. Describe the group's PTA service for the year, citing specific examples. You may refer to the individual group members by name, but do not mention your school's name. The group should uphold the PTA objectives and standards while supporting involvement from students, parents and teachers in his/her school's PTA program.
