A Note from Rick: Markets steady at TLA this week. This is a win, in my opinion, after recent gains in almost all markets and the fact that we can hold those prices and possibly move up from here in the future. The thing that stands out to me in our current and recent market is not only the price, but the atmosphere is different. Buyers and sellers alike seem to have more optimism and a much happier, more positive approach to business. This has been a long time coming after such a rough year in 2018, especially for the Dairy Industry. But there is definitely a different feeling at the sale and although prices have only increased slightly in 2019, it's a totally different market to me than the last half of 2018. Hopefully, this trend will continue because it is sure alot more fun this way! Be sure to get your consignment forms and advertising requests in for the Spring Draft Horse Sale and the IHHA Haflinger Sale by the deadline of February 1st. See you at TLA!
