

Good morning! Hope all is well.

Toady's clip.....'contact caused a violation.' What goes through your mind just reading that....'contact caused a violation'? What SHOULD pop up is we have a potential foul. If illegal contact causes a violation, then the contact is illegal and we need to get a foul on it.....

Here are a couple examples...the first one shows illegal contact (defender moving towards the ball handler) causing a back court violation and the second shows (not very well from the camera angle) where contact (a blocking foul) causes a travel.

Today's 'moral of the story' is to get fouls on those plays where illegal contact causes the players to violate (step OOB on that play going down the sideline is common).

Have a great game today!
